JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, in a formal statement to newspaper men today, said he had "absolutely reliable" information that Kansas City gamblers had sent $100,000 to Jefferson City to be used in an effort to defeat his Kansas City police bill and were raising an additional $75,000.

The Governor said that a "leading member of the gambling syndicate" had been in Jefferson City for several days, but he refused to identify him further than to say that he had been indicted by the recent Jackson County grand jury. Tim Moran, Pendergast ward boss in the Eleventh Ward in Kansas City, and proprietor of the Snookers Club, a gambling resort at Thirty-first street and Prospect avenue, under indictment by Judge Searles' grand jury, has been in Jefferson City since Monday, conferring with members of the Kansas City delegation in the House.

Moran denied that the police bill, which would transfer control of the Kansas City department to the state, had any connection with his visit to Jefferson City, adding that he had no knowledge of any fund being raised among Kansas City gamblers to oppose it.

"I'm just here visiting, having a good time with my friends," he said, "but I don't know anything about the damned police bill."

"The Governor is lying," he added, with profanity. "We don't care anything about him. We'll still be running along when he is back picking apples."

"A Desperate Effort."
"I am horrified to learn from absolutely reliable sources," the Governor said, "that the big gamblers of Kansas City have raised a slush fund of $100,000 and are raising an additional $75,000, all to be used in a desperate effort to defeat the Kansas City police bill."

"Why vitally interested in defeating such legislation?"
"It can only be because they have been receiving and want to continue to receive police protection."

"A leading member of the gamblers' syndicate now under indictment for operating one of the most notorious gambling joints in Kansas City was in Jefferson City yesterday."

"I know the membership of the Missouri General Assembly is in no mood to tolerate any such tactics."

ENDS LIFE BY LEAPING OFF VIADUCT ON TRAIN

Wilbur W. Goessling Found Dead Beside Tracks Under Kingshighway Span.

Wilbur W. Goessling, automobile salesman and former secretary of a casket company, was found dead this morning beside railroad tracks under the Kingshighway viaduct, under circumstances indicating he had jumped onto the top of a moving train.

His body, with both legs severed, was found about 3 o'clock by police after a taxicab driver had reported finding his overcoat on the east sidewalk of the viaduct. He was lying beside a Frisco Railway track about 75 feet west of where the coat had been discovered.

Goessling was 40 years old and lived at 245 South Meramec avenue, Clayton. A brother, Fred Goessling, a lawyer, 6633 University drive, University City, made the identification.

Fred Goessling said that his brother was married and had four children, but was separated recently from his wife. He returned to St. Louis last December, after spending six years in Michigan selling automobiles, and was seeking employment here, Fred Goessling said.

In the overcoat pocket was found a letter of introduction for Wilbur Goessling written by an insurance agent to James E. Darst, manager of the Municipal Auditorium, asking Darst's aid in obtaining some type of journalistic or radio work. Goessling's father was the late Frederick W. Goessling, president of the William F. Goessling Box Co.

Early Rally on British-French lived; Ticker Swamped.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—Values dropped $1 to more than $6 a share on the New York Stock Exchange today. The pace of sales at around 3,000,000 shares was the fastest in several months.

An early rally as Great Britain and France pledged to resist with arms any German thrust at Poland firm the list only temporarily. Prices teetered, then nose-dived in selling that forced the ticker several minutes behind dealings.

The Associated Press average of 80 representative stocks at one time fell under the pre-Munich low.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—John P. Moberly, former State Representative from Texas County, has related to the Post-Dispatch the details of an offer of substantial campaign funds made to him when he was a prospective candidate for the State Senate by a group which he said included a vice-president of Union Electric Co. of Missouri.

Another former Representative, Monroe Case of Webster County, has told how a lawyer tried to get him to accept $1000 to $2000 from "the utilities" at St. Louis for his primary campaign when he was seeking the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Nineteenth District in 1938. Both rejected the offers; Moberly remained out of the primary contest in 1938, and Case was defeated for nomination.

The political activities of Union Electric Co., which for years have included intensive lobbying at Jefferson City, lavish entertaining of legislators and other public officials, and campaign contributions for favored candidates, are being investigated by the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission.

Moberly, a practicing lawyer at Houston, Mo., served in the House in 1937, having been elected in 1936. He is a Democrat. His experience with the political maneuvering of the big St. Louis utility corporation was in the primary of 1934.

Fought "Mystery Bill."
Early in that year D. L. Bales of Eminence, then State Senator from the Twenty-second District, announced he would seek re-election. Bales was one of the leaders in the fight against the "Buford Mystery Bill" in the 1933 Legislature, a bill supported by Union Electric with a particularly active lobby. It was vetoed by Gov. Guy B. Park.

L. N. Searcy of Eminence, who previously had been a State Senator, came out against Bales for the nomination. Moberly told the Post-Dispatch that after the election he was in the race, William A. Despain, a right-of-way engineer for the State Highway Department, urged him to run, representing that "some parties in St. Louis" had suggested it for the purpose of eliminating both Bales and Searcy.

Moberly said Despain arranged for a meeting with the "St. Louis parties," which took place at the Pennant Hotel at Rolla. He said he went with Despain to the hotel and attended a conference with several other men. He named these as Albert C. Laun, vice-president and ace lobbyist of Union Electric; Anthony A. Buford, Jefferson City lobbyist for various interests, and Harry D. Griffith, then a division engineer of the Highway Department, now Safety Engineer. Griffith was then and is now Despain's immediate superior.

"These men told me what a great Senator I would make," Moberly said, "and offered to finance my campaign up to $2000. I told them I did not need their money and that if I ran I would finance my own campaign. After that I left the hotel."

Third Candidate Entered.
Moberly decided against running, but shortly afterward the Rev. H. Craig of Houston, now dead, entered the race as the third candidate. His declaration of candidacy and filing fees were taken to Jefferson City by Despain. Bales then withdrew and Searcy was nominated and elected.

Despain, now a safety inspector in the Highway Department, explained to the Post-Dispatch that he handled Craig's filing at the candidate's request. He told of having delayed the filing when Craig said he wished first to talk to "one person." After Craig had seen this person, whose name was not known to Despain, the filing was completed.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating an additional $100,000,000—$50,000,000 less than President Roosevelt asked for—to finance WPA until July 1.

The vote was 290 to 110. Just before the vote on final passage, the House defeated a Republican attempt to cut the total to $55,000,000, by a roll call vote announced by Speaker Bankhead as 277 to 130.

Today's fund would bring to $2,183,968,406 the total granted to WPA for the year ending June 30.

For two days the House had been debating the relief bill with the light complicated by efforts of legislators from rural areas to get even with men from city districts for the defeat earlier in the week of a $250,000,000 appropriation for party payments to farmers.

Administration efforts to add $50,000,000 to the bill's outlay and thus comply with the President's request, were defeated by 205 to 156.

By equally top-heavy votes the House refused to increase the amount to $125,000,000 or cut it to $75,000,000, in one case and to $54,294,575 in another.

The President, in asking for the $100,000,000, advised Congress that unless it were forthcoming 1,200,000 persons would be dismissed from WPA rolls in the next few months. WPA already has issued orders for a 400,000 reduction in the rolls next week.

Support for the highest amount that can be appropriated for WPA came from a Republican, Representative Maas of Minnesota, who said he gave his support with reluctance.

"It is a sad commentary on the recovery efforts of the administration," Maas said.

Representative Dondoro (Rep.), Michigan, noted that WPA has put on 1215 stage shows at a cost of $48,000,000 and then predicted that "WPA will be again knocking at the doors of Congress for untold millions."

Meanwhile, Senator Pepper (Dem.), Florida, suggested that Congress direct the WPA not to pay off any relief workers until the pending appropriation is disposed of.

Leaders said the Senate could take up the appropriation bill early next week. Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, said he believed some of the Senators who voted for Mr. Roosevelt's original request of $75,000,000—which Congress trimmed by $150,000,000—now would accept $100,000,000 additional.

Senator King (Dem.), Utah, introduced yesterday a bill to abolish the WPA and the National Youth Administration and provide instead for the President to make relief allocations direct to the states "on the basis of need."

General Staffs of England, France and Poland Are Reported in Consultation on Armies and Air Forces.

WARSAW, March 31 (AP).—Consultations between the British, French and Polish general staffs for co-ordination of their armies and air forces in the event of an attack on Poland were reliably reported tonight to be already under way.

As Polish leaders hailed Prime Minister Chamberlain's pledge of armed aid to maintain Poland's freedom as a likely deterrent to Nazi threats of force, it was understood representatives of the French general staff were directing exchanges of military views among London, Paris and Warsaw.

It also was said that several British and French warships might be sent to the Port of Gdynia, near Danzig, scene of German agitation in recent years.

Hopes Raised by Pledge.
Warsaw officials said the French-British pledge was likely to make Germany abandon any idea it might have of obtaining Polish territory by threat of force.

The promise of military aid from Britain and France came in the midst of intensive Foreign Office consultations preparing for Foreign Minister Col. Joseph Beck's scheduled visit to London next Monday.

The Foreign Office mouthpiece, The Kurjer Czerwony, has implied Poland would accept a military alliance with Britain and France if Chancellor Hitler refused Poland's appeal for a pledge to respect Polish rights and frontiers.

Seeking Pledge on Danzig.
Government quarters said Poland would continue, however, to seek agreement with Berlin over the Free City of Danzig now that Poland's position has been strengthened by British-French military promises.

Any German attempt to absorb the city without guaranteeing Poland's interests there would be considered a cause for war, Polish leaders declared.

The Free City, technically under League of Nations jurisdiction, has a Nazi local government. Although its population is largely Germanic, Poland has large economic interests there.

Warsaw sources said Chamberlain's declaration "probably" would be supplemented by a formal British-Polish military alliance when Beck visits London. Poland's attitude toward signing such a document will be conditioned, these sources said, by German response to attempts to negotiate over Danzig's future.

Guarding Against Surprise.
The form of Chamberlain's declaration was welcomed especially as guarding against any German "surprise" during the next few days.

It was pointed out in Warsaw that Soviet Russia and France have a mutual assistance pact and thus the Soviet Union, with a large air force and abundant raw materials, probably would be drawn into any conflict in which France came to Poland's aid.

The Lithuanian Minister to Poland, Wejsaul Szauis, returned to Warsaw with special instructions from his Government. High Polish quarters predicted early negotiations.

Chamberlain's Declaration

LONDON, March 31 (AP).
THE text of Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons today follows:

I am glad to take this opportunity of stating again the general policy of His Majesty's Government. They have constantly advocated the adjustment by way of free negotiation between the parties concerned of any differences that may arise between them. They consider that this is the natural and proper course where differences exist. In their opinion there should be no question incapable of solution by peaceful means and they would see no justification for the substitution of force or threats of force for the method of negotiation.

As the House is aware, certain consultations are now proceeding with other governments.

In order to make perfectly clear the position of His Majesty's Government in the meantime, before those consultations are concluded I have to inform the House that during that period, in the event of any action which clearly threatened Polish independence and which the Polish Government accordingly considered it vital to resist with their national forces, His Majesty's Government would feel themselves bound at once to lend the Polish Government all support in their power.

They have given the Polish Government an assurance to this effect.

I may add that the French Government have authorized me to make it plain that they stand in the same position in this matter as do His Majesty's Government.

(The latter part of Chamberlain's statement was in response to a question by Laborite Arthur Greenwood.)

The Foreign Secretary saw the Soviet Ambassador this morning and had a very full discussion with him on the subject. I have no doubt the principles on which we are acting are fully understood and appreciated by that Government.

The visit of Col. Beck will provide an opportunity of discussing with him the various further measures that may be taken in order to accumulate the maximum amount of co-operation in any efforts that may be made to put an end to aggression—if aggression were intended—and to substitute for it the more reasonable and orderly method of discussion.

The question of a conference is simply a matter of expediency. We have no theoretical views about conferences if they prove to be the best way.

If there are other and more effective ways of achieving our object we might dispense with conferences.

The Dominions are being kept fully informed.

Commission Makes Special Ruling
Because Day of Voting Is Holy Day.

The Board of Election Commissioners ruled today that Orthodox Jews voting in the city election next Tuesday may have the election judges mark their ballots because Tuesday is the first day of the Passover and writing is among the activities forbidden.

Members of the board said they had received many requests to make this ruling. Previous requests by Orthodox Jewish leaders to change the date of the election had to be refused because dates of all elections are set by law.

Under the ruling, judges will mark the ballots on the table at which they work just as they do for persons physically incapacitated from writing.

In East St. Louis, where a municipal election also will be held Tuesday, the Election Board has refused a request for a similar ruling.

HITLER'S SPEECH ON RADIO

Talk to Be Broadcast at 10:30 A. M. Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's address at the launching of the German battle-ship Von Tirpitz at Wilhelmshaven will be broadcast in this country tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. (St. Louis time) via WFAP-WJZ-NBC and WABC-RS. It is expected to reply to Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration on Poland today.

Earlier in the day word from Berlin was that the Hitler address would not be relayed outside of Germany, but a change in plans was effected later.

HITLER TO REPLY
TOMORROW, HAS
'PLENTY TO SAY'

Fuehrer Is Reported Greatly Angered but Not "Frightened by a British Prime Minister."

BERLIN, March 31 (AP).—Adolf Hitler will have "plenty to say" to Wilhelmshaven tomorrow in reply to Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise to fight for Polish independence against aggression, responsible Nazi sources asserted today.

"The Fuehrer will not be frightened by a British Prime Minister," these sources said.

Chamberlain's pronouncement was regarded as so important and weighty by the German Government that it was more than doubtful whether any official reaction would come before Hitler himself disclosed what he thinks.

Men usually charged with disseminating the Government's viewpoint to the foreign press acknowledged frankly that they must remain silent and let the Fuehrer decide.

Hitler Reported Angered.
DNE (official German news agency) issued a lengthy report of the Prime Minister's statement to the British House of Commons but the Government radio was silent.

A DNE release said the statement offered "no new idea, for the whole world knows that for many years England and France have been under obligations on the basis of their system of alliances to rally to Poland's side in the event of an armed attack."

"This declaration of the British Government can be viewed only as an extremely laughable attempt to incite unrest and to sow distrust of Germany in the family of nations," it added.

Chamberlain, contrary to his own claim that there is not the slightest basis for suspecting armed attack on the part of Germany, has thereby felt himself impelled to carry on along lines adopted by the British press.

Speeches and Protests.
The whole maneuver certainly appears as though England can only make little nations believe that she is ready to act . . .

"During recent months the democracies have laid themselves altogether too open to suspicion that they do nothing but deliver speeches and protests . . . With such platonic declarations Germany's purposeful work of construction in Central Europe cannot be disturbed. This attempt can only be described as laughable."

In Government offices, especially those having anything to do with

'READY TO GIVE ALL

No Mention of Danzig or

Minute Statement Marks Direct Reversal of England's Policy.

LONDON, March 31 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain in an historic attempt to block Germany's expansion on the continent announced in the House of Commons today that Britain and France would back with arms the independence of Poland while pursuing means of stabilizing the European situation.

Without mentioning Germany, the Prime Minister recalled that "certain consultations are now proceeding with other governments" on Europe's current crisis and stated Britain's position during those consultations thus:

"In the event of any action which clearly threatened Polish independence and which the Polish Government accordingly considered it vital to resist with their national forces, His Majesty's Government would feel themselves bound at once to lend the Polish Government all support in their power."

France in Same Position.
"They have given the Polish Government an assurance to this effect."

"I may add that the French Government have authorized me to make it plain that they stand in the same position in this matter as do His Majesty's Government."

Subsequently officials said the guarantee of help to Poland was binding pending completion of negotiations for a widespread European anti-aggression bloc which is expected to incorporate the same pledge on behalf of Poland that Chamberlain made today.

Soviet Russia, Rumania, Turkey and Yugoslavia all are believed to be involved in these negotiations.

The statement went beyond anything most European observers anticipated.

The Prime Minister had been expected to qualify his guarantee by refusing to fight for Danzig or the Polish corridor.

The commitment was also a direct reversal of Chamberlain's statement of a year ago when he rejected Laborite demands for a British guarantee of the frontiers of Czechoslovakia.

Kennedy in Close Touch.
About an hour before the Prime Minister made the statement, United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy left the Foreign Office.

It was known that Kennedy had been in close touch with the Prime Minister for the last 48 hours. Chamberlain's history-making declaration occupied less than five minutes and the House recessed after a session of only 17 minutes.

The Prime Minister ended with the statement that "the dominions are being kept fully informed."

He disclosed that Britain also was in close contact with Soviet Russia in reaching the decision.

The Foreign Secretary (Viscount Halifax) saw the Soviet Ambassador (Ivan Maisky) this morning and had a very full discussion with him on the subject.

Later in reply to a Laborite request "for an assurance that there are not ideological impediments be-

France Signs Commercial
Accord With Rumania
Designed to Check German Advance.

PARIS, March 31 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration of British-French armed support for Poland against aggression constitutes a decisive effort to halt German expansion without a general European war, an informed diplomatic authority said today.

This informant asserted that a French-British-Polish entente should demonstrate in the very near future whether Adolf Hitler would halt his push eastward when confronted by promises of unified military action against him.

Informants close to the French Foreign Office made it clear that Chamberlain's statement was the result of long negotiations between the British and French. They asserted that the actual draft of the declaration had been approved by both governments.

While the French naturally stand behind their agreement with Britain, these informants let it be known that there prevails at least in Paris—an atmosphere of waiting pending news of how Hitler receives the declaration.

Accord With Rumania.

France signed a commercial accord with Rumania today designed to check Germany's economic penetration in Southeastern Europe.

It was signed at the Foreign Office by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and the Rumanian Ambassador, Georges Tatarsescu.

At the brief ceremony Tatarsescu said that Rumania had not granted and never would grant any kind of economic monopoly on her territory.

Last week Rumania concluded a far-reaching five-year economic pact with Germany, giving the Reich important concessions in trade and developments of Rumanian oil resources.

Rumania to Resist Vassalage.

Ambassador Tatarsescu declared: "Recognizing that economic vassalage transforms itself sooner or later into political vassalage, Rumania will defend her economic independence with the same energy with which she defends her political independence and the integrity of her frontiers."

Through the trade treaty France undertook to double the purchase of Rumanian oil to a value of nearly 300,000 francs ($7,800,000) for the coming year, and to slash 60 per cent off import duties on Rumanian agricultural produce.

At the same time France and Rumania signed a cultural treaty providing for the exchange of students and professors and for co-operation in theatrical and artistic enterprises.

The accord provides that France will import 5,000,000 quintals (501,150 short tons) of petroleum and petroleum products during the year after the pact goes into effect. Other provisions likewise are for the duration of a minimum of one year.

The accord will be put into force by a decree at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Informal political circles said the cabinet also would approve raising the rank of the French legation at Bucharest to an embassy.

"Draft Lebrun" Campaign.

Previously President Albert Lebrun had summoned the French cabinet to meet tomorrow to reach a decision on the measure of military aid France would promise Poland if the expanding Nazi state should march against Polish territory.

The official convocation of the cabinet was ordered coincidentally with a "draft Lebrun" movement which political quarters hoped would induce the President to remain in office for another term as a demonstration of national unity.

GERMANY REPORTS IT HAS

Declares Pursuit Ship Broke Record by Going 463 Miles an Hour Over Test Course.

BERLIN, March 31 (AP).—Germany claimed today it had the world's fastest airplane.

It is a single-engine, one-seater Heinkel pursuit ship which averaged 463.9 miles an hour over a three-kilometer test course yesterday.

The Heinkel, equipped with a Mercedes-Benz engine of 1170-horsepower, was flown by Capt. Hans Dieterle.

His flight bettered the world record of 440.681 miles an hour established Oct. 23, 1934, by Francesco Agello of Italy.

Chamberlain, in beginning his statement declared: "The British Government have constantly advocated adjustment by way of free negotiation between the parties concerned of any differences that may arise between them."

He specifically left the door open to the suggestion of Russia for a conference of Powers, but observed that there might be other effective means for discussions among European nations.

The latter part of Chamberlain's statement was made in response to questions by Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader of the Laborite opposition, who said:

"May I in one sentence say that I am quite sure that this House realizes the potentialities that may arise from the statement of the Prime Minister?"

"It may prove to be in its consequences as momentous a statement as has been made in this House for a quarter of a century."

"It is very difficult with the House to state before the House to say very much, but I ask whether this statement which he has now made is to be regarded as the first step in a developing policy to deter or restrain aggression?"

Greenwood, in his questioning of the Prime Minister, urged co-operation with Soviet Russia and other Powers and suggested "an immediate conference of those Powers who may be prepared to range themselves on the side of peace as against aggression."

A New Step for England.

A long meeting of the Cabinet Foreign Affairs Committee and an extraordinary session of the cabinet at the House of Commons preceded the statement by the 70-year-old Prime Minister.

Chamberlain, fumbling with his spectacles and waving his hands, read his declaration in clipped tones.

The House of Commons was jammed.

It was the first time outside of the League of Nations that Britain ever gave a bilateral guarantee to any country east of the Rhine.

Chamberlain said his Government had no confirmation of rumors of any proposed attack on Poland.

MUSSOLINI "READY TO WAIT" WITH HIS CLAIMS ON FRANCE

Says at Reggio Fascists Think in Terms of Decades and Have a Solid Heart.

REGGIO, Calabria, Italy, March 31 (AP).—Premier Mussolini said in a speech here today that Italians were "ready to wait" for fulfillment of their claims on France. Fascists are thinking in terms of decades, he said.

Foreign observers regarded the statement as a further indication that Italy intended to avoid a crisis over African colonial claims on France, while trying to settle them by diplomatic means.

Mussolini told widely cheering Fascists that he had little to add to his speech in Rome last Sunday, in which he identified the French-Italian problem as Tunisia, Djibouti and the Suez Canal.

Premier Deladier of France, in response to the Sunday speech, let Italy know that France was awaiting clarification of the Italian demands.

"Stupid People Beyond Alps."

The crowd boomed and whistled when Mussolini spoke of "stupid people beyond the Alps," who say the Italian people are growing away from the Fascist regime.

"After my speech to the Squadristi at Rome, there is little to add," Mussolini declared.

"We are not forgetting we are preparing ourselves; we are thinking by decades, and, therefore, we are always ready to wait as a people which has many arms and a very solid heart."

"More than four years have passed since the month in which was mobilized the Peloritana (division sent to Africa for the Ethiopian war), four years of bitter tests and serious sacrifices which culminated, in conquest of an empire, which is an empire of one people and which will be defended by the people, on land, on sea and in the sky against anybody."

Fable Invented Abroad.

"Some weak-minded people beyond the Alps, confusing their desires with reality, have invented the fable of a growing away of the Italian people from the regime."

"Your whistling in their ear-drums will show them exactly the contrary is true."

"The people and the regime are one. Armed forces and the people are one. And these Italian people are ready to put the knapsack on their backs since all young people do not fear combat and are certain of victory."

Mussolini praised the fertility of families of Southern Italy, which he said indicated to those undergoing a nefarious influx of exotic manners and theories that experience has demonstrated them to be absolutely idiotic, first weakening and then retarding the fatherland.

"Sterile Peoples Are Weak."

"Strong peoples are fecund peoples, and vice versa, sterile peoples are weak. When these peoples are reduced to a miserable pile of old men, they will howl gasping under the whip of a young master."

The Italian press long has reported a lowering birthrate in France, with occasional references to birth control as nefarious.

Mussolini spoke after dedicating a monument to World War dead, while machine guns rattled a salute.

Italy's speech in this town at Italy's tip was his second in two days and third within a week.

foreign policy, it was apparent that Hitler was believed to have been greatly angered.

The consensus was that the Fuehrer could not tolerate such a development. It was believed that Hitler would not accept the view that a strong eastern and southern front of friends—Italy, Hungary, Slovakia, Yugoslavia and Bohemia—Moravia—cannot afford to have Poland accepting British and French military aid.

Hitler, therefore, was expected to formulate his address at the launching of the new 36,000-ton battleship Von Tirpitz at Wilhelmshaven in such a way that Poland will realize she will make Germany her bitter enemy if she accepts British-French help.

In some German diplomatic quarters Britain was accused of reverting to an old trick—sowing seeds of discord on the continent.

Anti-British Campaign.

A few hours before Chamberlain's speech the inspired Nazi press had initiated a new vigorous anti-British campaign as a result of reports in London newspapers of alleged German troop movements and a German ultimatum to Poland.

It has been arranged for Hitler to attend the launching of the battleship tomorrow at noon (5 a. m., Central Standard Time) and then address a mass meeting in the city hall square of the North Sea port late in the afternoon.

Only the naval attaches of Germany's special friends, such as Italy, Japan and Hungary, have been invited to the launching. The naval attaché of the United States Embassy received no invitation.

Government spokesmen, meanwhile, do not deny that East Prussia comes near to being an armed camp but they point out that the garrison there always has been the strongest in all Germany. They asserted, however, that it was not true that there is anything like a concentration of German troops on the Polish border.

Italy Anxiously Awaiting German and Polish Reaction.

ROME, March 31 (AP).—Italian Fascists expressed belief today that Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise of British-French aid to Poland would stiffen Polish resistance to any German demands.

Italy was described as "anxiously awaiting" to hear Poland's and particularly Germany's reaction to the declaration.

Italians have expected Germany to limit its claims to the City of Danzig and a link with East Prussia through the Polish corridor.

Those who usually express authoritative views said they could understand Germany's desire to bridge the gap between East Prussia and the main body of Adolf Hitler's expanding realm.

CANADA WILL DETERMINE OWN COURSE IF WAR COMES

However, Premier Says, Aggression Against Britain Would Constitute Menace to Every Nation in Commonwealth.

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 31.—Canada's official position in the face of Europe's recurring crisis is that it reserves the right for its Parliament to determine its course if war comes in Europe but that any aggression against Great Britain "would constitute a menace" to the entire British commonwealth, of which Canada is a member.

The Dominion's stand was stated by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King in a full dress foreign affairs debate in Parliament yesterday.

"I cannot accept the view that, regardless of what the issue may be, this country should say here and now that Canada is prepared to support whatever may be proposed by the Government at Westminster," the Liberal Prime Minister said.

He declared, however, that Canada had "reason to feel that an act of aggression, aimed at the destruction of Britain, would constitute a menace to the freedom of every nation of the British commonwealth."

He said concern for Britain's security was "a deep-felt and powerful factor in the shaping of Canadian policy" but discouraged any policy which would have Canada decide by law now whether or not Canada would declare war or remain neutral if England were involved in conflict.

In addition, he promised that "so long as this Government may be in power" conscription will never be introduced to send an army overseas.

Changed conditions brought about by new inventions made it probable, he said, that no expeditionary forces would go abroad as they did in the World War.

Recalling President Roosevelt's promise last August that the United States would not tolerate foreign aggression, Mackenzie King said the month of August was as important to Canada as September was to Europe.

"I want to emphasize these closer and more responsible relations with the United States have not in any way lessened the intimacy of our relations with the United Kingdom," he went on.

He said he did not think the time was ripe for efforts to have the Pan-American Union opened to Canadian membership.

The foreign policy statement was made to a crowded House with many diplomats in the galleries.

The Conservative opposition leader, Dr. Robert J. Manion, in debate following the Prime Minister's speech, declared that conscription would be inevitable in wartime and urged a compromise policy between full neutrality and full participation in any war involving Britain.

Manion asserted failure to reach such a compromise would result in civil war, adding that "it is impossible for Canada to remain neutral and remain within the empire."

Quebec Premier Admonishes Opponents of Aid in a Foreign War.

By Canadian Press.

QUEBEC, Que., March 31.—Members of the Quebec Legislature's little national group, sponsors of a motion opposing Canada's participation in a foreign war, which provoked a student demonstration Tuesday, were admonished by Premier Maurice Duplessis yesterday not to "arouse prejudices."

The Quebec Premier gave the warning as the five-man bloc sought again to discuss the motion. He told the House the Quebec Government would "take its responsibility in the proper time and place."

"It seems to me Quebec already has a well-defined opinion on this question," he added. "I suggest no moves should be made to inflame minds and I do not think it is right for a member who has taken an oath to do his duties with responsibility to try to arouse prejudices."

Nationalist Member Chalout insisted that he was "within my rights in presenting this motion and I will be heard. We have a right to present motions like this every day and we will do so until a stand is taken by the Government."

Colombian Pending Arrival of Francisco Envoys.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—Spanish Ambassador Fernando de los Rios turned his embassy over to Colombian Ambassador Lopez Pumarejo today, to be held until the United States recognizes the Franco government in Spain.

He informed Secretary of State Hull of his action at a conference this morning at the State Department.

De los Rios resigned his post at the moment he turned over his Embassy to the Colombian Ambassador. He then transferred the Spanish consulates in the United States to the temporary jurisdiction of Cuba.

The Ambassador said he was leaving for New York to join the faculty of the New School for Social Research, known as the "university in exile" since it is composed largely of professors driven from their countries in Europe.

"My heart and mind are always with Spain, but with dictatorial Spain I have nothing to do," he said.

GOLD FLOWS INTO U. S. FROM LONDON, PARIS

About $210,000,000 Sent by Various Countries This Week
—$56,000,000 in One Cargo.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—One of the greatest treasure shifts in history, attributed in financial circles chiefly to fear of war in Europe, was marked today by additional large arrivals of gold from England and France.

Hundreds of boxes of the precious metal from the monetary stores of central banks and private hoards have been unloaded from fast transatlantic liners since the transfer was speeded up last week.

It took four hours for stevedores to unload the treasure from the Manhattan. Escorted by police, radio cars and automobiles full of armed detectives, armored trucks left the pier at 15-minute intervals carrying the metal through the city's downtown districts to the United States assay office.

A large part of the gold arriving here recently has been going into "earmark" at the New York Federal Reserve Bank to be held there for the foreign Powers, presumably central banks.

The Commerce Department disclosed at Washington today that gold imports in the week ended March 24 totaled $53,000,263.

Shipments included $5,098,301 from Belgium, $1,149,588 from The Netherlands, $1,690,166 from Switzerland, $24,859,385 from England, $2,373,938 from Canada, $2,032,178 from Mexico, $8,580,104 from Japan and $4,217,838 from Australia.

One of Chancellor Hitler's first actions after assuming a protective role over Bohemia and Moravia was to confiscate the Czech gold reserve. The report showed only $630 worth of gold from Czechoslovakia came to this country during the week.

GRAND JURY SAYS THERE'S NO 'CRIME WAVE' IN ST. LOUIS

Declares in Report No Reflection Can Be Made on Conduct of Prosecuting Officials.

BREVITY OF INQUIRY
BY M'KITTRICK CITED

'Courts, Prosecutors and Police Authorities Are Functioning Properly and Adequately.'

The February grand jury, in its final report to Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin today, said that no "crime wave" exists in St. Louis and that no reflection can be cast on the prosecuting authorities here for the manner in which they have conducted their offices.

Its statement was occasioned, it said, by the "wide publicity" given by the newspapers to the brief investigation of crime conditions here by Attorney-General Roy McKittrick.

"In fairness to the prosecuting authorities, the courts, and ourselves," the report stated, "any possible misapprehension of the community on the subject of an alleged or supposed 'crime wave' in our midst may be removed and corrected.

"Reflections Unwarranted."
"From our investigation we feel justified in stating that no such condition or situation exists here, and that our courts, prosecutors and police authorities are functioning properly and adequately, and that the reflections against them appearing in certain quarters, with reference to the conduct of the investigation and prosecution of crime in our city, are without foundation and are wholly unwarranted upon the facts."

The jury pointed out that the three principal matters presented to it as a result of the Attorney-General's investigation were the "alleged extortion" by leaders of the local movie operators union, the case of Cecil B. Engel, the agent in various straw party deals involving the Croatian-American Building & Loan Association, and the "conduct and dealings" of the leaders of the service car drivers' union.

Indictments against John P. Nick and Clyde A. Weston, leaders of the movie operators' union, charging extortion, were returned by the grand jury in the first case mentioned. Weston, according to the indictment, received $6500 in November, 1937, from 19 theater owners to avert an increase in pay for the movie operators.

Contributors to Fund.
The owners who contributed to the $6500 fund were listed in the indictment when it was returned in Judge McLaughlin's court today.
They, and their theaters, are:
Wilton Colonna, Lexington Theater; Thomas M. Curley, Ashland, Lee and Queens; Christ Effthim, Star; Harry Greenman, Dakota, University City and Yale; Jack Harris, Normandy; Henry J. Holloway,
Reverly; Gem and Overly; Arvin Lau, Lemay; A. D. Pappas, Webster; Benjamin A. Pautler, King Bee; George Pilakos, Criterion;
Frank Spros, Marquette; Isabella Tabler, Ivanhoe; Fred Wehrenberg, Cinderella, Melba, Michigan, Savoy and Virginia, and Andrew Zotos, Melvin.

As has been told, Nick and State Representative Edward M. (Putty Nose) Brady were indicted on a charge of extortion by the previous grand jury in connection with a $10,000 fund raised by theater owners in 1936.

Investigation Not Complete.
A no true bill, meaning no indictment, was voted by the present grand jury in the Engel investigation. As to the service car drivers, the report stated that the jury received "no request for any action in this matter, the Attorney-General indicating that his investigation has not yet been completed."

Although the Attorney-General and his assistants were "invited to bring in at any time any matter which they felt should be investigated," these three cases were the only ones presented by them to the jury, the report says.

It was pointed out by the jury that McKittrick closed his office here on March 11 and that it has learned that he "has been busily engaged in his duties at the State Capitol and in Kansas City." No date was indicated for his "possible return" to St. Louis, the report added.

The jury pointed out that McKittrick came here at the express direction of Gov. Lloyd Stark, but that Gov. Stark, in his order to McKittrick, "did not mention, or charge that there existed, as a fact, any crime condition in St.
Louis that was not receiving adequate or proper attention at the hands of the authorities."

The report underscored the fact that Gov. Stark stated that it was "charged in the public press" that crime conditions exist in St. Louis "which challenge official authority."
It was urged by the grand jury that the Police Department's "cam-

14 SERIOUSLY HURT IN SUBWAY COLLISION

More Than 200 Others Cut or Bruised in Rear-End Crash on City Line in Queens.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—
A collision of two city-owned subway trains at the height of the evening rush hour yesterday injured more than 200 persons and sent 14 to hospitals.

The crash between the crowded four-car local trains of the city independent system, shortly before 6
p. m., swept men and women from their feet, crushing them against metal uprights or the sides and ends of the cars.

Three hospitals in Queens County listed 14 persons suffering from brain concussions, internal injuries or fractures of ribs, arms or legs.
Police listed more than 200 others who were cut by flying glass or bruised.

The accident occurred when a Forest Hills-bound train, sweeping around a wide curve, hit the rear of a train stalled by loosened couplings.

Nearly 100 men and women picked their way down the tunnel to emergency exits. A short time later, the second train pushed the first into the Forty-sixth street station, near Madison Square Garden Bowl, where 40 doctors and interns cared for the injured, laid out on the platform. Seven ambulances were sent from nearby hospitals.

Glass laminated with the plastic —polyvinyl acetate resin—has been found to be about five times more bendable than ordinary types of safety glass. It may be rolled like a rug without the falling of the glass particles from the plastic.

new product were E. I. du Pont de

DUNNS PRESENTING CLAIMS TO CAMPBELL FORTUNE

Three Members of Family Heard; Nine Others Scheduled to Testify.
Members of a Dunn family—claimants to the Campbell fortune —testified today at the hearing before John J. Nangle, special master, who is trying to establish the rightful heir to the $1,800,000
death in March, 1938.

Three of the Dunn branch testified yesterday as the hearing was resumed after a two-day recess.
Dr. George Robert Dunn, a Minneapolis physician, said his great-grandfather was Andrew Campbell, brother of Robert Campbell, who founded the fortune. Robert Campbell was Hazlett Campbell's father.
Similar testimony was given by Dr. Dunn's sister, Miss Grace Adelaide Dunn, publisher of a Princeton (Minn.) newspaper.
Their mother, Mrs. Lydia Mc-Kenzie Dunn, who is not a claimant, testified she had often heard her husband, Robert Campbell Dunn, speak of visiting his great-uncles, Hugh and Robert Campbell, while learning the printing trade in St. Louis. Nine other Dunns, most of whom live in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, are scheduled to testify.

ANOTHER LAWYER IN INSURANCE CASE HEARD IN INQUIRY

Glenn C. Weatherby First Witness of Day Before
U. S. Grand Jury Investigating 'Mystery' Fund.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31.—
The Federal grand jury continued today its efforts to find out who got about $447,000 in cash mysteriously disbursed by the late Charles R. Street of Chicago after cashing checks paid him by stock fire insurance companies involved in the Missouri rate compromise of 1935 for "expenses" of the settlement.

It was anticipated that the jury would recess late today until Monday.

Witnesses scheduled to testify today included three Kansas City attorneys who were involved in the long series of litigation preceding the settlement, which was effected
May 18, 1935, under the administration of R. Emmet O'Malley, then State Superintendent of Insurance.
They were John F. Rhodes and Homer Berger, who represented the companies, and Glenn C. Weatherby of counsel for the State. John T.
Barker, who signed the agreement as attorney for O'Malley and who represented the State in the litigation, reappeared yesterday before the jury.

Also on hand today was Gilbert Lamb, Jefferson City attorney, who represented the State in one of the rate cases. Weatherby was the first witness to testify.

Former Gov. Guy B. Park, who was in office at the time of the compromise, has stated publicly he would not have agreed to it had not Barker informed him Attorney-General Roy McKittrick had approved the settlement.

The jury has inspected canceled checks totaling about $447-500 paid by 137 companies to Street, who acted as their agent in the litigation and was instrumental in effecting the compromise.

The members of the grand jury are Max B. Schrier, Savannah, automobile dealer, foreman; Roy Moore,

DETECTIVE-SERG. FORTHMAN DIES SUDDENLY IN AUTO

Apparently Victim of Heart At-

Former Partner of Chief.

Detective-Sergeant William D.
Forthman, in charge of detectives in the downtown area, died suddenly this morning, apparently of a heart attack, while riding in a police car. He was stricken when the machine was at the intersec-

Olive street.

Detective Harold Bohlen, driving the machine, said Forthman suddenly slumped forward after break-previously Forthman had complained of feeling ill in the office.

MISSOURI U. GIRL SWALLOWS GOLDFISH; ISSUES CHALLENGE

Marie Hansen Claims Women's Intercollegiate Championship;
Men's Record is 25.

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 31 (AP).— Marie Hansen, University of Missouri student, swallowed a goldfish today and claimed the National Women's Intercollegiate Goldfish Eating Championship.

"It wasn't so bad," she said. "If men in the Eastern schools can have their champion, I think the women of the West can have one, too. I think the present man's record is 25 fish, but I challenge a college girl to swallow more than one."

A senior from Memphis, Tenn., Miss Hansen washed the fish down with a glass of water, ate a slice of bread and then went to class.

MAPLEWOOD AUDIT ORDERED IN DISPUTE BY CANDIDATES

Mayor Says City Had $47,358 on Hand March 17; Opponent Asserts It Had $33,181.

The Maplewood City Council, at a noisy meeting last night, instructed an accountant to determine how much cash the city had on hand on March 17, following publication by City Clerk John J. Hogan, a candidate for Mayor in the election Tuesday, of an advertisement stating the city had but $33,181 in bank on that date.

Mayor Frank L. Martin, a candidate for re-election, told the Council there was $47,358 on hand on the date in question.

In the advertisement Hogan stated the city had $61,774 in cash on Feb. 17, 1937, but only $33,181 last March 17. At the Council meeting last night he refused to explain his figures. Martin insisted the comparison between March, 1937, and February, 1937, was misleading, as payments on sewer bonds are made on March 1.

Rescues Missouri Voyager.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 31
(AP).—The washtub in which Lloyd
Thompson of Wittenberg, Mo., left
St. Louis Jan. 29 for a trip down the Mississippi to New Orleans, sank under a bridge here yesterday when the inner tube encircling the tub was punctured.

Thompson was fished out of the water by Woodrow Wilson, who has conveyed the tub in a canoe from Cairo, and Thompson announced he would continue his trip in a new tub. They hope to find a sponsor who will send them to the New York World's Fair and place the tub on exhibition.

"CASEY" LAMBERT IS SUED BY WOMAN

$225,000 Action Accuses Him of Mistreating Her in New York Apartment.

Suit for $225,000 was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton today against Stafford L. Lambert, wealthy St.
Louis sportsman, by Anastasia Curry, who charged that he mistreated her in 1937 in a New York apartment after giving her cigarettes and whisky which contained "an intoxicating narcotic."

The plaintiff was not identified in the petition, except by name, and it could not immediately be learned where she lives.

At Lambert's home, Grandview Farm, in St. Louis County, Lambert was said to be in South America. His attorney, Albert M. Menzi, would not comment on the suit, stating that he had never heard of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleged in her petition that on April 13, 1937, she accepted Lambert's invitation to visit an apartment he was occupying on a visit to New York. He gave her cigarettes, she alleged, and she became dizzy; whereupon he urged her to drink some whisky.

The cigarettes and whisky contained a narcotic which left her without "full control of her faculties," and while she was in this condition he mistreated her, her petition alleged.

As a result, the petition continued, she "hovered between life and death for 10 days," and was left with a weakened heart and injuries to the right leg which eventually will force her to wear a metal brace to walk.

She asks for $75,000 actual and $150,000 punitive damages. The petition was filed in her behalf by the law firm of Dubinsky & Dugan.

Lambert, known to his friends as "Casey," is the son of the late Marion L. J. Lambert, vice-president of the Lambert Pharmacal Co. He is 32 years old and unmarried.

He is known as an amateur aviator, hunter and yachtsman. At present a new $25,000 airplane is being completed for him by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport.

City Praised for Safety Record.
St. Louis has received honorable safety contest, W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council, informed Mayor

city tied with Boston in the traffic safety competition last year. Milwaukee had the best record.

HOMICIDE VERDICT IN ILLEGAL OPERATION

Coroner's Jury Orders Nurse
Held in Death of Mrs.
John Martin.

A Coroner's verdict of homicide naming Mrs. Dorothea Detchemendy, a nurse, was returned today at an inquest in the death of Mrs.
John Martin, 1300A Hebert street,
at City Hospital Monday. The jury found that Mrs. Martin died of peritonitis following an illegal operation.

In a signed statement to police,
Mrs. Martin's husband, a WPA worker, said he took his wife to Mrs. Detchemendy's home, 4939
Claxton avenue, and paid the nurse
$10 to perform the operation March 18. The money was later returned, he said, when his wife required medical attention.

Mrs. Detchemendy, who did not testify at the inquest, denied to police that she had performed the operation.

Navy Orders Search for Halliburton.
WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—
The navy ordered a search yesterday for the Chinese junk, in which Richard Halliburton, author and adventurer, set out with a crew of 10 from Hongkong for San Francisco. Commandants at Honolulu and Manila were directed to instruct vessels in their area to keep a sharp lookout for the craft, whose radio had been silent since Friday.

The adventurer reported that his position was about 2400 miles east of Hongkong.

DICKMANN ON CHARITY FUND ELECTION PLEDGE

Sure Exact Wording Didn't Commit Him to Use All of Contingent Expense Cash.

Mayor Dickmann, who was asked whether he had kept a 1933 campaign promise to use his contin-gent fund for charity at a public hearing on the prospective municipal budget yesterday, today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he thought he had met the self-imposed obligation.

When Mrs. L. H. Caught, 346 Oak Hill avenue, demanded to know how the $12,500 annual fund was spent and said the Mayor had pledged himself to use it all for charity, he disregarded the question after referring her to his accounting of the fund filed with the Board of Aldermen at the end of his first term in April, 1937. Today, he said he did not recall the exact wording of the pledge, but was certain it did not commit him to use all of the contingent fund for charity.

Although he is allowed $12,500 yearly for contingent expenses, he pointed out that during his first year in office he took but $6000 leaving the remainder in the general revenue fund from which relief expenses then were paid. From the $6000, the report to the Board of Aldermen showed, he made contributions to charity of $1809. He used $900 for contributions to other causes, $1510 for entertainment of visiting guests, $721 for traveling expenses and $1080 for miscellaneous expenses.

During the other three years of his first term he said he drew the full $12,500, since the State has taken over relief administration Contributions to charity from that fund for the last three years of his first term, respectively, were $362 $365 and $3640, his report showed, making a total of $12,689 for the four years.

NYA USED IN FIGHT AGAINST STARK BILL

Kansas City Police Employ Clerks to Write on Stationery of Various Firms.

KANSAS CITY, March 31 (AP).—A staff of 14 clerks, including eight National Youth Administration employees, worked at police headquarters yesterday writing letters on stationery of five Kansas City firms urging legislators to oppose Gov. Lloyd Stark's request for the transfer of Kansas City police control to the Governor.

The letters were being written on letter heads of firms which do business with the Police Department.

Otto P. Higgins, Police Director, said the letters were being written in co-operation with various firms. He said he did not know NYA workers were being employed, but that if they were they were being paid by the Police Department.

George B. Sykes, District NYA Director, said he did not know NYA workers were aiding the police. He pointed out, however, employees could work only 50 hours a month for the NYA after which time they could receive outside pay for working in "tax-supported offices."

"The owners of several business firms called me," Higgins said, "and volunteered to help us by writing letters to legislators. We then offered to write the letters and return them for their signatures."

The paper said police cruise cars were used to take the letters to heads of the various firms for their signature.

BUDAPEST, March 31 (AP).—Hungary and Slovakia today tied their frontier dispute over rights of Czechoslovakia, which caused heavy fighting and casualties last week.

A Hungarian communiqué commissions of the two countries had agreed "on a general outline of a new frontier between Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine. The line is to be fixed in detail by Monday."

Last week, just as "independent Slovakia was placing itself under the military protection of Germany," Hungarian troops crossed the Carpatho-Ukraine, which Hungary seized after the collapse of Czechoslovakia.

HUNGARY SETTLES FRONTIER DISPUTE WITH SLOVAKIA

Two Commissions Agree on General Outline of Border — Details to Be Decided by Monday.

BUDAPEST, March 31 (AP).—Hungary and Slovakia today settled their frontier dispute over remnants of Czechoslovakia which caused heavy fighting and casualties last week.

A Hungarian communique said commissions of the two countries had agreed "on a general outline" of a new frontier between Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine. The new line is to be fixed in detail by next Monday.

tion of a Polish-Lithuanian defensive alliance.

Poland's Alternatives.

The Kurjer Czerwony made it clear in an inspired article that Poland hoped to come to an understanding with Germany without entering a stop-Hitler bloc, but was prepared to join the bloc if German guarantees were not forthcoming.

Referring to the situation between Germany and Poland, Kurjer Czerwony declared, "Marshal Pilsudski (Poland's late military and political leader) liked to play chess and when forces are about equal the great Powers generally are satisfied with a tie."

"Pilsudski finished his game with Germany with such a tie score, to the honor and advantage of both nations. We don't think it would be advantageous for Germany to resume the game because they must consider the possibility of settling accounts simultaneously on several sides. Germany cannot risk failure before its own people."

"Therefore, the Germany of 1939 should not begin a new match, even if her technical forces are sufficient. Poland demands only respect of her national honor and respects of her interests which are not confined within Poland's borders."

"We also demand respect for our position in the world and Poland will repay it by mutual respect."

"It would seem the situation may develop into another scoreless tie."

Wary of British-French Pact.

Throughout Poland there were numerous manifestations of loyalty to the Government.

At Chojnice, in the Polish Corridor, a grammar school teacher took her pupils to the German frontier.

"There is the border and we all have to keep it there," she said as the children sang the Polish national anthem.

It was reported 20 Ukrainians had been arrested at Lwow, in Southeast Poland, and other Galician towns charged with fomenting unrest among Poland's Ukrainian minority.

Sources close to the Government have charged in the past that independence movements among the 3,200,000 Ukrainians in Poland were supported by Nazi agents.

Steps to better relations with Soviet Russia and Lithuania, Poland's eastern and northern neighbors, were taken. Warsaw officials conferred with a Soviet delegation negotiating for the purchase of machinery, textiles and coal.

In Berlin, the Polish Ambassador, Joseph Lipke, conferred the grand ribbon of Polonia Kestituta on the Lithuanian Minister, Karys Skirpa, the first time a Lithuanian has been so honored by Poland.

Affidavits that white damage suit lawyers were receiving tips from Negro employees at the Homer G. Phillips Hospital, the city hospital for Negroes, have been turned over to the State Bar Committee for this district and to the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association.

City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman yesterday by the committee, which represents the Mound City Bar Association, an organization of Negro lawyers.

Wayman told reporters that the affidavits, sworn to by three patients, named employees, who, it is alleged, obtained information which was turned over to white lawyers.

The City Counselor refused to disclose names and other details pending an investigation of the charges.

If the affidavits are supported by additional evidence Wayman said he would recommend the dismissal of the employees involved.

STATE BOARD ALLOTS $420,835 FOR GENERAL RELIEF IN APRIL

Reduction Made in Anticipation of Fewer Cases.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31 (AP).—The State Social Security Commission allotted today $420,835 for general relief in April, a reduction of $61,667 from the March allotment.

The reduction reflects passing of the relief case load peak, Social Security officials said. This month's cases totaled 42,646, while the anticipated load for April is between 40,000 and 41,000.

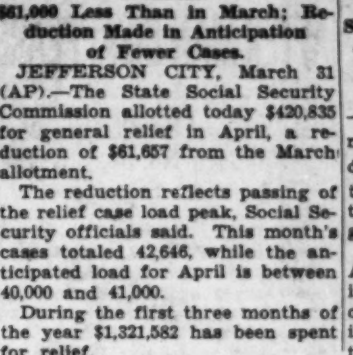

During the first three months of the year $1,321,582 has been spent for relief.

FRANCO CLEANUP GOES ON; 100,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Military Courts Set Up for Trial of Those Who Opposed Nationalists in Civil War.

MADRID, March 31 (AP).—Spanish Nationalist soldiers continued clean-up operations today in Madrid and in other parts of the surrendered Republican zone. More than 100,000 prisoners had been taken yesterday and the day before.

After a technical state of war (martial law) was decreed temporarily for Madrid, military courts were set up to mete "severe but firm justice" for "criminals." Suspects were being rounded up from a card index compiled by the "fifth column" during the war.

In Valencia, it was learned that many members of the National Defense Council, the last Government of the fallen Republic, had been removed with their families on British ships from the British-leased Port of Gandia.

Transportation services were being restored in Madrid, but in Valencia street cars were not running and the general business of the city had not been resumed.

A shy woman Nationalist of Madrid, Senorita Caye Eugenia Lasternas, came into the open to receive Nationalist congratulations for recruiting 10,000 women into the pro-Franco Phalanx during the long siege of Madrid.

Nationalists said she saved thousands of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's followers during the war, and, although hunted by the Republican secret service, was never arrested or detained.

She took her orders from the head office of Franco's Auxilio Social (relief organization) in Burgos through an intricate spy system. She never remained long in one place and her office usually was some underground hideout.

SHIP SIGHTS MAN CLINGING TO ROCK IN MID-ATLANTIC

Reports Seeing Him on Sao Pedro, Uninhabited and With Virtually No Vegetation.

FERNANDO NORONHA, Brazil, March 31 (AP).—The Italian steamship Augustus, en route to Italy, radioed yesterday that a lone man had been sighted clinging to the uninhabited, rocky island of Sao Pedro in mid-Atlantic.

The Brazil Marine Ministry said it was impossible for a man to live long on the rock, which is virtually without vegetation.

Sao Pedro lies beside its twin, Sao Paulo, long a hazardous spot for ships, 600 miles northeast of Natal, Brazil, and 1300 miles southwest of Dakar, Africa. The islands belong to Brazil and there is an automatic lighthouse. If the Augustus report is correct it appeared probable the man was the survivor of shipwreck or an escaped convict from the French Guiana colony. The Ministry of Marine said a lighthouse party had not been sent to the islands recently.

Most of her own followers did not know her by sight or name.

She gave assistance to bed-ridden Franco sympathizers, helping them to hide. She smuggled medical assistance. She even arranged for priests to visit the dying for the administration of extreme unction.

Nationalists said Republican secret agents mobilized entire squads to hunt her.

Evidence of Senorita Lasternas' work was shown in the capitulation of Madrid Tuesday, when the "fifth column" of Nationalists behind the Republican lines emerged to take over the city before Franco's troops marched in.

3500 of 4000 Interned Sailors Want to Return to Spain.

TUNIS, March 31 (AP).—Officials at Maknassy concentration camp, where crews of the Spanish Republican war fleet were interned after their surrender to French authorities at Bizerte March 8, said today that 3500 of the 4000 men chose to return to Spain.

The officials added that 2300 already had left Maknassy for Nationalist camps. Many of these will man the war fleet when it is returned to Spain.

MURDER CHARGES FILED AFTER MAN DISAPPEARS

Pair Accused at Bolivar, Mo., Although No Body Has Been Found.

BOLIVAR, March 31 (AP).—Prosecutor Willard Leavitt said today he had filed first-degree murder charges against Mr. and Mrs. Clay Patton in connection with the disappearance last July 26 of John L. Kaudie, prosperous Polk County farmer.

The Pattons, who lived with Kaudie on his farm north of here at the time of his disappearance, were arrested today at Mrs. Patton's mother's home near Goodson by Sheriff Harry D. Butler and were placed in jail here pending preliminary hearing April 8.

The Pattons at the time of their arrest were free on bond on forgery charges which also grew out of the disappearance of Kaudie. Those charges were based on a letter mailed from Denver, Colo., after Kaudie's disappearance, to Arthur Tidwell, a neighbor of Kaudie. The letter, purporting to be from Kaudie, contained a $200 check made out to Tidwell and instructed Tidwell to turn over to Patton some notes he held on Kaudie's stock. The Pattons were charged with forging the letter and check.

Since filing of the forgery charges Polk County officers and State Highway patrolmen have conducted an intensive search for Kaudie's body. The body has not been found. The Prosecutor said the murder charges against the Pattons were based on additional evidence uncovered since the forgery charges were filed. He refused to say what the evidence was. Leavitt said the murder charges would affect the forgery charges in no way.

Walter Fisher, another neighbor of Kaudie, who was arrested with the Pattons on the forgery charges, was not named in the murder charges.

After his arrest Fisher's parole on an assault charge—not connected with the Kaudie case—was revoked and he was sent to the State Penitentiary, where he is now completing a sentence in the assault case. When his parole was revoked the forgery charge against him was dismissed.

160,482 UNDER A A A IN STATE

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 31 (AP).—Seventy-six per cent of Missouri farmers have signed to co-operate with the 1939 farm program. C. W. Sheppard, chairman of the Missouri Agricultural Conservation Committee, said here today.

A total of 160,482 farmers in 114 counties have joined the program, an increase over the same period last year.

MAYOR SPEAKS FOR ALDERMEN ON PUBLIC RECORDS

In First Speech in Pre-Election Fight, Urges Support for Mason and Other Democrats.

Taking the platform for the first time during the present campaign, Mayor Dickmann last night addressed voters of his home ward at a meeting of the Fourteenth Ward Regular Democratic Organization at Strasberger Hall, once accomplishments of his administration, defended its financial record, and urged support of his party's ticket for President of the Board of Aldermen and 14 members at next Tuesday's election.

The Mayor called for re-election of President William L. Mason of the Board of Aldermen and 10 present members on the basis of their public records. Four other Democratic nominees for Aldermen, he said, were chosen "because of their background and reputation in the community."

Tax rates had remained the same and assessments had been lowered, he said. Adoption of the United States Public Health Service's standard milk control ordinance, enactment of the anti-smoke and fireworks ordinances, the traffic safety campaign and public improvements made through WPA were discussed.

Referring to Republican criticism of city finances, Mayor Dickmann said "they have been trying to, although I am not a candidate."

Comparing the five years of his administration with the last five years of the preceding administration of Victor J. Miller, he said that revenue for the fiscal years 1933 to 1938 averaged $2,744,432 less each year than for the 1928 to 1933 period.

Whereas, the Miller administration took office with a balance of $497,000 in the treasury, Mayor Dickmann said he was faced with a deficit of $1,376,000 when he entered the office.

"This was because the last administration spent $375,402 more per year than it received," he said.

"We have cut expenditures so that in the last five years our average yearly expenditure above income has been only $183,786. "In other words, from 1928 to 1933 the total spent over and above the total received was $1,877,013. From 1933 to 1938, we cut this total to $938,932. Of that amount $390,000 was spent for direct relief, the city's part for WPA projects, buying materials to complete these projects and for other extra-administration improvements.

"Much has been said about our bonded indebtedness and here again charges and inferences are inaccurate. When my administration took office, the outstanding bonded indebtedness was $79,792,000. Despite the fact that upwards of $20,000,000 in bonds have been issued since we took office, the bonded indebtedness last Jan. 1 was $2,253,000 less than it was then. We have retired bonds in the amount of $32,094,000 during the last five years."

EX-LEGISLATORS TELL OF MONEY OFFERS FOR CAMPAIGNS

Griffith told the Post-Dispatch he knew a complaint was made to the Governor against him and Despain in 1934. He said Dulaney Mahan of Hannibal, then a member of the Highway Commission, told him there had been a "rumor" in the commission over the matter.

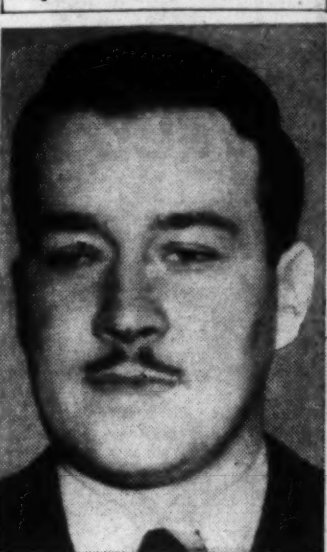

"He reprimanded me for getting mixed up in a political mess," Griffith said, "and told me he and Scott Wilson (chairman of the commission at that time) had to go to bat for me."

Moberly said that after his election as Representative from Texas County in 1936 he received an electric clock as a gift from Laurin. "I don't know why he sent it to me," Moberly said. "His company never gave me presents before I became a member of the Legislature."

Hardware Man's Visitor.
Case, a hardware dealer at Elkland, served in the House in 1927 and 1929. He and W. E. Freeland, publisher of a newspaper at Forsyth, were early entrants for the Republican nomination for Senator in the 1936 primary. Shortly after he announced, Case related, he was visited at Marshfield, at a Webster County Republican meeting, by a lawyer who said he could supply $1000, or possibly $2000, for Case's campaign.

"He did not say at that time where the money was to come from," Case said. "I told him that anybody who wanted to help me should get out in the district and work for me and not offer me money. He said nothing more about it there, but reminded me that he would see me in St. Louis."

sent was not asking anything of the Legislature except to be let alone; that all it wanted was fair treatment. He described it as non-partisan, saying that one of the men in charge was a Democrat and one a Republican. They needed only one more Senator but intended to get two more in order to be safe, he said.

Not That Kind of Money.
"I told him I would be fair to everybody and again suggested that anyone who wanted to help me should go to work out in the district. He said, 'You don't do business that way; you have to go to their office and they hand it over to you on your agreement.'"

"I saw that they wanted to tie me hand and foot. Probably I could have accepted the contribution without violating any law, but if I had done so and had been elected I could not have taken the oath of office without perjuring myself. So I told the lawyer I did not want that kind of money and refused to go with him to the office of the utilities."

Case said the lawyer represented that his employers were trying to keep Freeland out of the Senate because in earlier service in the House Freeland had opposed measures favored by "the utilities."

Just before the last day for primary filings, a third candidate, Thomas Crain of Ozark, Christian County, entered the race. He made a very active campaign and ran only slightly behind Freeland. The vote in the primary was: Freeland, 7538; Crain, 7170; Case, 4413. Freeland was elected for a four-year term.

Methods and the Law.
One of the preferred methods by which corporations exert influence in the Legislature is by contributing to the campaign funds of candidates.

The Missouri Corrupt Practices Act makes it unlawful for a corporation to contribute directly or indirectly, or through any person, to the campaign funds of any party or candidate for the purpose of influencing any election, and provides that a corporation's charter may be forfeited as a penalty for violation of the statute.

GREVE ASKS ABOUT BENEFIT FUND AND MAYOR'S BROTHER

Demands Head of Aldermen Tell Otto Dickmann's Profit on City Employees' Insurance.

Clifford Greve, Republican candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, called on his Democratic opponent, William L. Mason, incumbent, to tell what use is made of the $150,000 collected annually from city employees who are members of the Municipal Employees' Benefit Association, in a speech last night at Concordia Turner Hall, Thirteenth and Arsenal streets.

Charitable contributions from the fund amount to $22,000, Greve said, leaving $128,000 for payment of group insurance premiums on $250 policies for 4500 employees, and for political purposes. He called on Mason to state the amount of the commission on the group policy paid Mayor Dickmann's brother, Otto Dickmann, by the General American Life Insurance Co., and the sum used for political purposes.

Greve pointed out that the insurance was canceled in cases of city employees who lost their jobs or continued at much higher premiums. Such an instance, he said, was the case of Lilburn G. May, discharged by Mayor Dickmannism and with atheism."

BISHOP TELLS CATHOLIC YOUTH NEVER TO FIGHT FOR RUSSIA If U. S. Were Ally, He Would Advise Boys Not to Enter Army.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—The Most Rev. John A. Duffy, Bishop of Buffalo, urged the Catholic youth of America yesterday never to fight in the United States army on the side of Russia.

"One almost loses control of himself when discussing the possibility of identifying ourselves with Communistic Russia," he declared at a Catholic Charities meeting.

"If the United States ever joined in a foreign war with Russia, I would advise every Catholic boy to refuse to serve in the United States army. We cannot ask as a civilized government that the youth of America identify itself with Communism and with atheism."

CENTRAL STATES ORGANIZE AGAINST FREIGHT RATE CHANGE

Governor's Industrial Council Will Oppose South's Efforts for Equalization of Charges.
CHICAGO, March 31 (AP).—The Central States Governors' Industrial Council was founded here yesterday to co-operate with industry in transportation problems affecting Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Commerce Commission officials from the five states, meeting at the invitation of Acting Gov. Stelle of Illinois, agreed to band together to protect the interests of the Middle West.

Subject to the approval of the Governors, it was agreed the first effort would be to oppose the attempt of Southern states to obtain an equalization of freight rates between North and South.

Among the organizations which sent representatives were the Belleville (Ill.) Manufacturers' Association and Chamber of Commerce; the Alton (Ill.) District Manufacturers' Association and the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

MISSOURI HOUSE PERFECTS BILLS FOR $142,211,000

Eight Appropriation Measures Include $86,948,000 From Special Funds and U. S. Grants.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—House of Representatives, meeting last night in its first even session, ordered perfected eight appropriation bills providing for the expenditure of $142,211,000 during the next two years.

The total amount approved in the bill, which probably will be passed by the House, is $142,211,000 out of State general revenue funds and $86,948,000 from special funds, fees and grants from the Federal Government. The bills now go on the calendar for passage.

The measures perfected are: Old-age pensions, direct relief and aid to dependent children, $53,900,000; charities and colleges, $9,885,759; almshouses, $10,300,000; penal institutions, $8,623,520; State Highway Department, $47,000,000; Highway Patrol, $1,124,713; civil list, $10,886,727; and salaries and expenses of the Legislature, $485,705.

The House already has perfected a bill appropriating about $28,000,000 for the support of the public schools and has yet to take up the omnibus bill, which probably will carry a total of $6,000,000 for various State boards, bureaus and commissions.

Social Security Appropriations.
The social security appropriation bill calls for the expenditure of $29,750,000 from State funds and $24,000,000 which will be contributed to the State by the Federal Government on the basis of the State aid.

From the State funds, $5,500,000 would be spent for old-age pensions, $3,250,000 for children's aid, $5,000,000 for direct relief, and $2,000,000 for administrative expenses.

The expected Federal grant would include $19,500,000 for old-age assistance, $3,250,000 for aid to dependent children, $100,000 for other child welfare services, and $1,500,000 for administrative expenses.

An amendment by Representative W. O. Hanks of Joplin, which had increased the State pension allotment to $22,000,000, was defeated by a vote of 41 to 41. He said additional funds were needed to provide adequate pensions after 1940, when the age limit for pensioners will be reduced from 70 to 65.

Representative Forrest Mitterdorf of St. Louis County offered an amendment to increase the State aid to dependent children fund to $4,000,000, but his suggestion was rejected by a vote of 59 to 17.

The amounts allotted from State funds in the bill are below the requests of the State Social Security Commission, which has estimated it will need $21,800,000 for pensioners to the aged, $5,453,000 for children's aid and $12,500,000 for direct relief. Gov. Stark has recommended an appropriation of $19,000,000 for pensions, $5,000,000 for children's aid and $9,000,000 for direct relief, the amount provided for this purpose by the 1937 Legislature.

Funds for State Schools.
The appropriations for State schools are: University of Missouri, Columbia, $4,022,863; School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla, $917,000; Kirkville Teachers' College, $60,748; Maryville Teachers' College, $825,000; Warrensburg Teachers' College, $690,000; Cape Girardeau Teachers' College, $635,500; Springfield Teachers' College, $755,000; Missouri School for the Deaf, Fulton, $415,000; and School for the Blind, $279,900; $148,000.

The bill provides an appropriation of $779,500 for Lincoln University for Negroes, Jefferson City. The allotment includes $200,000 for expansion of the school, educational facilities to make them equal to those of the State University. The expansion program is designed to meet a decision of the United States Supreme Court that Negroes are entitled to attend the University of Missouri unless equal educational opportunities are offered in a separate institution.

The civil list appropriation bill includes: Governor, $105,600; Attorney-General, $295,400; Secretary of State, $1,610,250; State Auditor, $1,791,200; State Treasurer, $500,000; Department of Education, $1,000,072; Permanent Staff of Governor, $979,900; Public Service Commission, $915,530; State Supreme Court, $451,780; St. Louis Court of Appeals, $132,286; Kansas City Court of Appeals, $141,713; Springfield Court of Appeals, $99,500; and Circuit and other judges, $478,600.

Hospital Appropriations.
Appropriations for the eleemosynary institutions are: Hospital No. 1, Fulton, $1,381,499; Hospital No. 2, St. Joseph, $1,523,000; Hospital No. 3, Nevada, $1,109,628; Hospital No. 2, Farmington, $990,199; State School at Marshall, $860,000; State Sanatorium, Mount Vernon, $1,215,000.

The bill also provides $2,750,000 for pensions to the blind and $115,000 for the care of charity patients at county hospitals.

Former Indian Fighter Dies.
ATLANTA, Ga., March 31 (AP).—Charles L. Fish, pioneer of Indian war days in Kansas, died here yesterday. He was 97 years old. Fish's youth he was mounted escort for mail coaches. He recalled many fights with Indians. He also fought in the latter part of the Civil War. He moved to Emporia, Kan., when that city was little more than a village.

He said additional funds were needed to provide adequate pensions after 1940, when the age limit for pensioners will be reduced from 70 to 65. Representative Forrest Mitterdorf of St. Louis County offered an amendment to increase the State aid to dependent children from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, but his suggestion was rejected 50 to 17.

The amounts allotted from State funds in the bill are below the requests of the State Social Security Commission, which has estimated it will need $21,800,000 for pensioners to the aged, $6,453,000 for children's aid and $12,500,000 for direct relief. Gov. Stark has recommended an appropriation of $19,000,000 for pensioners, $5,000,000 for children's aid and $9,000,000 for direct relief, the amount provided for this purpose by the 1937 Legislature.

Funds for State Schools. The appropriations for State schools are: University of Missouri, Columbia, $4,022,863; School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla, $917,000; Kirkville Teachers' College, $1,748; Maryville Teachers' College, $625,000; Warrensburg Teachers' College, $690,000; Cape Girardeau Teachers' College, $635,500; Springfield Teachers' College, $755,000; Missouri School for the Deaf, Fulton, $415,000, and School for the Blind, St. Louis, $148,000.

The bill provides an appropriation of $778,500 for Lincoln University for Negroes, Jefferson City. The allotment includes $200,000 for expansion of the school education facilities to make them equal to those of the State University. The expansion program is designed to meet a decision of the United States Supreme Court that Negroes are entitled to attend the University of Missouri unless equal educational opportunities are offered in a separate institution.

The civil list appropriation bill includes: Governor, $105,600; Attorney-General, $295,400; Secretary of State, $1,610,250; State Auditor, $181,200; State Treasurer, $500,000; Department of Education, $1,007,200; Permanent Seat of Government, $979,900; Public Service Commission, $915,530; State Supreme Court, $451,780; St. Louis Court of Appeals, $132,266; Kansas City Court of Appeals, $141,000; Springfield Court of Appeals, $150,000, and Circuit and other judges, $478,600.

State Hospital Appropriations. Appropriations for the eleemosynary institutions are: Hospital No. 1, Fulton, $1,381,499; Hospital No. 2, Joseph, $1,523,000; Hospital No. 3, Nevada, $1,109,628; Hospital No. 4, Farmington, $990,199; State School at Marshall, $860,000; State Asylum, Mount Vernon, $1,215,000.

The bill also provides $2,750,000 for pensions to the blind and $115,000 for the care of charity patients in county hospitals.

Former Indian Fighter Dies. ATLANTA, Ga., March 31 (AP).—Charles L. Fish, pioneer of Indian war days in Kansas, died here yesterday. He was 97 years old. This youth he was mounted on a horse for mail coaches. He recalled his fights with Indians. He fought in the latter part of the Civil War. He moved to Kansas, Kan., when that city was more than a village.

the recipient and his friends to members of the Legislature.

Samplings of Letters Used.

The sample letter, given to policemen to send to their friends, follows:

Dear —: Will you help us to keep the control of the Kansas City Police Department where it belongs—under the management of Kansas City? You know I don't want to lose my job, neither do I want to see the fine department we have built under home rule made a political football by the Governor.

If you will send the enclosed letter, or one like it, to your State Senator and Representatives in the Legislature, it will help me and my family personally—and in any case it is the right thing to do.

Please have your friends send letters, too, and it must be done right away.

Sincerely yours,

The copy of a suggested letter sent along by policemen, and to be used in communicating with members of the Legislature, follows:

My dear Senator (or Representative):

I am very strongly opposed to Gov. Stark trying to be a dictator and take over the Kansas City Police Department. It is un-American. My friends in Kansas City as well as here resent such tactics. I think you should vote against the Governor's bill and help in every way you can to defeat it.

Sincerely yours,

Stark Grateful to Murphy.

The Governor expressed his pleasure at the announcement yesterday in Washington that there would be no interference with the Federal grand jury investigation in Kansas City.

"I am deeply gratified," the Governor said, "and I know all those the bill. Representative Le-good people of Missouri are thankful to read the statement by the Attorney-General of the United States, Frank Murphy, that no political pressure can stop the Federal grand jury investigation in the insurance case and other cases now before it.

"The people of Missouri have the utmost confidence in the Federal courts and are confident the guilty will be brought to the bar of justice no matter how high they stand politically."

Criticism of Governor.
House leaders opposed to Stark criticized the Governor for his statements concerning the police bill.

Referring to the slush-fund charges, Representative John D. Taylor of Keytesville, who is aligned with the Pendergast organization, asserted in the House:

"Whoever is responsible for the origin and circulation of such rumors is guilty of damnable slander, and I want to say that men who circulate stories reflecting upon the integrity of the Legislature are guilty of heinous offense."

Representative H. P. Lauf of Jefferson City, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, to which the Governor's bill has been referred, said:

"It seems to me that such statements could emanate from only an insane man, with the possible exception that to say he was insane means that he first must have been sane."

Representative William B. Weakley, who introduced the bill recommending the hope that members of the House would "keep their heads and stand squarely on their feet as citizens of Missouri and officers of the State when this matter comes up for consideration."

Although Taylor said a survey failed to show any legislator had received letters urging them to oppose Stark's bill, Representative Leonidas King of Camden County and Representative W. W. Dodson of Dade County told the House they had received such letters.

The administration forces, led by Weakley, having introduced the police bill, are giving evidence of a willingness to let it take a normal course without attempting to hurry it. The opposition in the House, led by Taylor, is in a quandary as to whether the better tactics is to delay its consideration in the hope that the Legislature can be adjourned before its passage becomes imminent, or to rush it along with pressure for it on rural legislators becomes greater than it is now.

There are members who are nervously considering the possibility that the profiteering heads of the huge gambling syndicate in Kansas City are prepared to "buy" the Legislature. Their nervousness is increased by reports that Federal agents already are in Jefferson City watching for evidence for presentation to the Federal grand jury in Kansas City, now investigating underworld activities in connection with income tax frauds.

Word is being passed around surreptitiously that Kansas City crime leaders will not hesitate at any expense, whatever it may be, to stop the Governor. Ward bosses of the Kansas City Democratic political organization are mingling with rural legislators. Some members of the Kansas City delegation in the House are attempting to gain the support of rural Democratic members, so far, apparently, using only the argument that the Democratic party in the State needs the Kansas City organization and that it needs the present police system to win elections.

The rumors that money will be used in an effort to defeat the bill are causing much concern to some members who would spurn any such offers, but who might be disposed to oppose the bill in an honest belief in the principle of home rule. Some of them privately say that their opposition to the Governor on this issue might easily be misconstrued and would subject them to suspicion, making it almost imperative that they go with the Governor as a matter of self-protection.

It does not now appear that early action on the bill may be expected. Lauf of the Judiciary Committee has fixed Tuesday, April 11, as the date for a first public hearing. Lauf is a bitter opponent of the Governor.

Lauf's explanation of the reason for postponing committee consideration of the bill nearly two weeks was that next Tuesday, the regular meeting day of the committee, will be the date of elections in nearly all the municipalities in the State, and nearly all the Legislators will be away from Jefferson City. So he fixed the date a week beyond that, although there is nothing to prevent a chairman from calling a special meeting of his committee at any time.

There seems little basis for an assumption by some persons that Taylor's action in insisting on a night session of the House to perfect appropriation bills last night was part of a scheme to rush them to the Senate in an effort to have them passed and then to adjourn the Legislature before the anticipated report of the Federal grand jury in Kansas City and before the police bill gets out of the House committee.

For several days reports have been persistent in Jefferson City that the grand jury will return indictments against several men high in the affairs of Kansas City and several men who in the past have held positions of prominence in the State Government. It is generally talked that if such indictments should be returned, the opposition to the Governor would collapse and nothing could stop the passage of the police bill.

The position of the St. Louis delegation of 19 in the House will take the subject of much speculation. There are rumors that the entire delegation will go against the Governor, and other rumors that the 16 who are affiliated with the Mayor or Dickmann faction in St. Louis politics will go with the Governor and against Pendergast.

One rumor is based upon the fact that most of the St. Louis Representatives usually are lined up in support of political machine power. The other rumor probably grows out of several considerations of much deeper political significance.

It is being talked here that because of the lessened popularity of the Dickmann machine in St. Louis, growing out of its loss in its fight on Circuit Clerk H. Sam Priest in the last election, the real estate scandals and its loading of the circuit bench with political judges, it needs an issue on which it can re-establish itself in public confidence. Some politicians see in the Stark-Pendergast contest before the Legislature a perfect set-up for the Dickmann faction to come back on a moral issue.

They also profess to see in a Dickmann support of the Governor an opportunity for a step toward a possible alliance with the Governor's State following, which could wrest the balance of power in State Democratic politics from Pendergast.

There is little doubt that an order from Dickmann and Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the St. Louis Democratic City Committee, would make certain 16 St. Louis Representatives for the Governor's bill.

Regardless of that, it generally is expected among legislators that the bill will be passed in the House, but, on the other hand, the belief at this time is that it will encounter serious difficulties in the Senate, where Senator M. E. Casey of Kansas City, high in the Pendergast councils, is a resourceful leader and is ruthless in wielding the power he long has exercised over the Senate. He seldom has lost a Senate fight, and it may be confidently stated that he will fight for Pendergast now as he never has fought before.

Dickmann and Hannegan Decline to Comment on Situation.

Mayor Dickmann and Hannegan declined to comment today on the position of the 16 Representatives affiliated with the faction, regarding Gov. Stark's Kansas City police bill. Hannegan added that he had not talked with members of the St. Louis delegation this week.

Shasta and Lassen County residents watched Mount Lassen for signs of possible volcanic activity today after a minor earthquake in Eastern Shasta and Western Lassen counties. Residents of the region, in the northern part of the State, said the last time an earthquake occurred in the area was 1915, a few days before an eruption of Mount Lassen, the only active volcano in the United States.

City's Growing Bicycle Fleet Starts Safety Move

Education, Rather Than Arrests, Undertaken to Reduce Number of Accidents Among Riders.

This spring's fleet of bicycles, most numerous in the city's history, is stirring such concern—accentuated by two recent fatalities—that police, the Safety Council and the three local bicycle clubs are joining forces in a special program of safety education.

Sgt. Roland J. Schumacher of the Traffic Bureau is making the rounds of 214 public and parochial schools with a lecture course on safe riding methods; a Safety Council committee is visiting schools with a motion picture on the subject, and Chief of Police John H. Glasco is preparing a leaflet for circulation through stores selling bicycles and shops renting them.

Although figures for last year are incomplete, it is estimated that bicycle accidents showed a material increase from 1937, when 226 persons were injured in 259 accidents reported to police. Most of those injured were bicycle riders, the Safety Council reports, and most of the accidents occurred in collision with automobiles or other vehicles.

Opposition to Use of Sidewalks.
In that light, the suggestion has been repeated among motorists that accidents might be reduced by permitting bicycles on the sidewalks and barring them from the streets. The agencies concerned, however, agree that bicycles would be more dangerous if allowed on the sidewalks than they are now in the streets. Rayburn Hoffmann, secretary-manager of the Safety Council, points out that two pedestrians were killed by bicycles on sidewalks in 1937.

The National Safety Council has a bicycle committee, which made a preliminary report at its 1938 convention last October in Chicago. Hoffmann relates. One of the questions it presented for discussion was bicycles on the sidewalks, which met concerted opposition.

St. Louis Ordinance.
A St. Louis ordinance, adopted July 5, 1934, early in the current wave of bicycle popularity, applies standard traffic rules to bicycles. It provides:

Section One. The operator of a bicycle shall comply with signals given by automatic traffic signals and shall come to a full and complete stop at all lawfully designated stop signs.

Section Two. The operator of a bicycle shall keep as close to the right hand side of the street as practicable.

Section Three. The preceding section shall not apply to one-way streets.

Section Four. It shall be unlawful to rent, lease or loan a bicycle to another for the purpose of its being used upon the streets of the city or to use a bicycle on the streets of the city, unless such bicycle is equipped with one white light mounted at the front and directed forward, and one red light, or one red reflex mirror, mounted at the back and directed toward the rear, one red reflex mirror on the front directed to the right, and one such mirror on the front directed to the left.

Section Five. Any person, firm or corporation violating or causing to be violated any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50.

$1 a Year License.
Apparently overlooked by some thousands of riders is the fact that an ordinance of 1917, providing for the licensing of sulkies, surreys, landaus, barouches and so on, provides also that bicycles, tricycles and velocipedes, except where the owner is less than 12 years old, shall be licensed at $1 a year. Some 12,000 bicycles were licensed last year, but the Safety Council estimates that school children from the fifth through to the twelfth grade own 20,000.

The preventive program of education, rather than a campaign of arrests for carelessness, is relied on by both Chief Glasco and Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, as the most effective means of reducing the number of accidents.

Record on Accidents.
Of the persons injured in bicycle accidents in 1937, 104 were between five and 14 years old, 100 were between 15 and 24, and 22 were older. The figures follow roughly the proportion of total riders in the respective ages, with perhaps somewhat higher ratio of injuries, Hoffmann judges, among children less than 14 years old.

A high proportion of accidents occurs in Forest Park, a favorite haunt of cyclists.

Park accidents may be reduced to the vanishing point, Hoffmann says, by the establishment of bicycle paths and by preserving roadways for bicycles after they have been superseded by later routes for motor traffic. He said that cyclists now have the exclusive use of one drive in the southern edge of Tower Grove Park.

Sgt. Schumacher's rules for bicycle riders, to be included in Chief Glasco's pamphlet, are: Keep in single file, stay off major streets, keep brakes and other gear in good order, pull up at all the stops, stay on the right side of the street, don't carry anybody on the handlebars, have the light and reflector equipment provided by the ordinance, don't ride after dark unless you have it and wear light-colored clothing, and consider your bicycle just like any other vehicle on the streets.

NEW RADIO COMPASS KEEPS BOMBING PLANES ON COU

Long-Distance Control of Air R-

SAN FRANCISCO, March (AP).—A radio compass so pre-its sponsors say it might pre-accurate control of aerial bomfrom long distances was destrated here today.

On the instrument board of airplane the device operates thing like the "visible-tuning" ture of home radios. A green shines as long as the plane is bing directly toward the radio mitting station to which the pass is tuned. If the plane as little as two degrees off course, the light goes out.
Henry Woolf, former Army Corps officer, who invented the strument, and Edison E. Mo-former Department of Commaeronautics inspector, who destrated it, said the compass be employed in military opera-with more accuracy than any

COCHRAN PLEADS FOR MOTHERS WPA CUT OFF

Cites Plight of St. Louis Women Barred by U. S., Un-aided by State.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, March 31.—The plight of the St. Louis mothers with dependent children who were struck from WPA rolls in January was cited by Congressman John J. Cochran yesterday in debate on President Roosevelt's request for $150,000,000 additional funds.
Congressman Cochran said between 1250 and 1500 mothers, dropped from WPA because they were eligible for State assistance for dependent children, were left without income because no State funds were available.
"You know and I know," he said,

"that the State Social Security Commission can only spend what is appropriated by the Legislature. When the mothers with dependent children were dismissed from the WPA rolls, they immediately went to the State Social Security office in St. Louis and appealed for aid. Due to the fact that the Missouri Legislature did not provide sufficient money for administrative expenditures, they did not have employees who could interview them."

Pictures Tell the Story.
"I do not know the exact number, but between 1250 and 1500 mothers were dismissed. It mattered not if they had one or 10 children. In the St. Louis office at the time nearly 5000 applications for aid from mothers were pending when these separations occurred."

"Many of the mothers with their children stood outside the relief office all day. They got wash tubs and built fires in them to keep warm. I know this because the pictures were printed in the 'St. Louis papers. Pictures do not lie. This situation resulted because Congress did not provide sufficient money to keep these mothers on the WPA rolls."

Cochran further declared that persons entitled to unemployment compensation were advised to apply for it, and were struck from the WPA rolls as soon as the State commission advised they were eligible. This compensation, he said, amounted to $4, $5 or $8 a week.

Favors $150,000,000 Fund.
"I ask you in all seriousness," he demanded, "do you want a man with a family of children to support them in a big city on, say, $25 a month? Place yourself in that man's position. How would you like to support your wife and children on $25 a month?"

Asserting that he could see "the handwriting on the wall," Cochran continued that the President would not get the $150,000,000 requested, but at most $100,000,000. "We shall be required to call the roll to get even that," he stated, and gave thanks the resolution is so written that a roll call may be obtained.

"I wish," he concluded, "that we could get a roll call on the $150,000,000. You might and will vote in the committee of the whole against $150,000,000, but you dare not go on record against $100,000,000. I will vote for $150,000,000."

LIQUOR SMUGGLER LINKS TORRIO WITH ILLICIT RUM RING

Government Witness Says Gang Boss Sat in at 1933 Meeting on Control of Shipments.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—A convicted liquor smuggler gave evidence in Federal Court today tending to link Johnny Torrio, former Chicago gang overlord, with an illicit rum-running ring.

Appearing as a surprise witness for the Government, in Torrio's trial on income tax evasion charges, Bert Erickson testified that Torrio was present at a meeting in 1933 of an "association" which attempted to control the supply of liquor. The witness said that when a dispute arose over payment for smuggled liquor delivered to the "association," it was Torrio who settled the argument.

"We had just got a load of liquor in," Erickson, "and Zaccarino (Frank Zaccarino, a Torrio associate) was kicking about paying for it because of breakage and loss." Torrio, the witness said, turned on Zaccarino and told him: "Pay for it and stop arguing. We owe for it. Give him the money." Zaccarino then paid, Erickson said.

Mistrial Motion Overruled.
The appearance of Erickson, who pleaded guilty in the recent Narbonne rum-smuggling case involving 9600 gallons of illicit alcohol, drew a demand for a mistrial from Chief Defense Counsel Max Steuer. The defense attorney challenged the propriety of jurors sitting in the present trial who were members of the same panel from which the Narbonne case jury was drawn. The motion for a mistrial was denied.

Erickson testified that those present in addition to Torrio at the meeting of the alleged rum-running "association" were "Nick the Greek," of Newark, N. J.; Charles (King) Solomon of Boston, Al Killian of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., John Campbell of Atlantic City, Jole Adonis of Brooklyn and 19 or 20 others.

Torrio's Income Tax Return.
Earlier, Saul C. Steinthal, a former Internal Revenue collector who became an accountant in Torrio's enterprises, related how Torrio happened to make his income tax return in 1933.

Steinthal said Torrio, mentor of "Scarface" Al Capone in Chicago during the bootleg era, realized he was a target of Government surveillance and that he shrugged off Steinthal's suggestion that he could make a tax return without paying a cent.

"I am Torrio," Steinthal quoted the former gang overlord as saying. "I am Torrio and I must pay a tax. I want to pay about $1000." That was the story behind the 1933 return which Prosecutor Seymour Klein described as "the most amazing" he had ever seen.

"Fictitious Income."
"Did you suggest that a fictitious income be added to warrant payment of $1000 to the Government and did you make the calculation as additional income?" Steinthal was asked by Chief Defense Counsel Max Steuer. "I did," the witness agreed.

Torrio is accused with four others of defrauding the Government of $86,000 in income taxes in the years 1933-34-35.

Torrio chewed his finger nails and squirmed during Steinthal's testimony yesterday.

Steinthal testified that he had visited defense counsel Steuer's office as recently as five weeks ago, while under Government subpoena, and Federal Judge John W. Clancy gave Klein permission to question him as a "hostile witness."

Steuer protested he was not aware Steinthal was under subpoena when he talked to him.

Leading up to the introduction of testimony, Klein declared Torrio had been a member of an association in New York City whose purpose was to control the supply and demand of liquor during prohibition: "20,000 Protection Money."

"He was associated with every bootlegger here," Klein said. "The association not only regulated supply and demand but fixed prices and did business in thousands and thousands of cases of liquor a month. Protection money at the rate of $20,000 or more a month for the corruption of certain people was paid out."

The charges brought a denial from Steuer, who contended in his opening statement the Government could not prove "by truthful evidence" that Torrio earned a dollar from illicit liquor after 1925, the year he served nine months for violating the prohibition laws. Furthermore, Steuer charged, the Government "is trying to convict him merely because he is John Torrio."

Steuer contended Torrio owed nothing, but paid the $1000 tax "in the nature of protection" because he "knew he was a mark for the Government and he wanted to stand in right with the Government."

MARCH CAPRICIOUS, BUT HAD ITS POINTS

Only Six-Tenths Inch of Snow — Month's Total Precipitation About Normal.

March, the month which can never make up its mind whether it wants to be winter or spring, will take its leave today with its reputation for utter independability still intact. Cool spells alternated with warm ones with bewildering rapidity that at last it appeared there could never be any certainty again.

Spring technically arrived on the twenty-first, and for a week following there was a period of unusually warm weather. The temperature rose to a maximum of 82 degrees, and averaged 68.2 or 21 degrees above normal. Just before this there was a four-day spell of cold weather, when the temperature went down to 20 degrees, averaging 31.2 or 13 below normal. In the latter part of the month the mercury went back down again, close to freezing, where it hovered until yesterday.

Asked whether April would show any improvement, Weather Forecaster Walter Moxom merely shrugged his shoulders and said: "Well, there's no more severe weather in sight yet. It looks like the weather for the next few days will be pretty good. That's as far as I'll go. You can never tell very far ahead what's going to happen this time of year."

Despite its vacillation, March had several redeeming features. For one, there was only six-tenths of an inch of snowfall, or 3.2 inches less than normal, but total precipitation was 3.20 inches, which is about normal. For another, although there were constant high winds which served to sweep the city's atmosphere clean of smoke, there were no tornadoes such as swept through Belleville and Alton last March.

On the early morning of the twelfth, rain falling through thick dust in the upper atmosphere deposited a coat of red mud on all exposed surfaces.

Moxom said reports have come in from many points in Missouri that trees are in blossom and pastures are in brightest green, due to abundant rainfall and the warm spell in the last half of the month. Farmers, he said, have planted the bulk of their corn, barley, rye and early potatoes. The subsoil is well filled with moisture, so that farmers can look forward to normal growth of crops.

Forest Supervisors Transferred.
MILWAUKEE, March 31 (AP).—A series of transfers of national forest supervisors, including: Edward N. Lee, from the Gardner Forest, Springfield, Mo., to Escanaba as assistant supervisor; Galen Pike, supervisor of the Shawnee Forest, Harrisburg, Ill., to Rhinelander as supervisor; and Arlie W. Toole of the division of state and private forests here, to Harrisburg, Ill., as supervisor.

MANY IN CAPITAL HAVE FINGERPRINTS TAKEN VOLUNTARILY

Those of Vice President Garner and Congressmen Among Latest Recorded.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said today it was pleased with the progress made in voluntary fingerprinting. In less than a month it has taken for permanent record, without persuasion, the fingerprints of Vice-President Garner, a number of Senators and Representatives, the White House staff and War Department employees. The Government for years has had the fingerprints of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The FBI has 1,131,901 civil fingerprints on file. An average day brings 2331 voluntary contributions, the vast majority from visitors to the offices. The FBI would like to get the prints of every American, but admits it would be a difficult task. It now has 10,200,000 prints, including civil and criminal records, the largest collection in the world.

The prints are not wanted entirely for criminal detection. They help identify accident victims and applicants for jobs.

CHILDREN'S AID PROGRAM INADEQUATE, STATEMENT SAYS

Planning Council Declares State's Compromise Budget of $135,416
a Month Is Not Enough.

The new "compromise budget" of $135,416 monthly, for the State's Aid to Dependent Children program, while more satisfactory than the figure originally set by the House Appropriations Committee, is still inadequate, the legislative committee of the Social Planning Council of St. Louis declared in a statement last night.

With a Federal one-third contribution, the State Social Security Commission will be able to pay out about $203,000 monthly instead of the $250,000 it had planned to pay. The original House recommendation, the statement reads, was "obviously too small to meet even a portion of the program." The appropriation should be based upon real needs of the State rather than upon compromise, the statement says.

Julian B. Cohn, chairman of the council's legislative committee, said 6000 signatures have been obtained on petitions urging adequate appropriations for child welfare in Missouri.

$2000 HIDDEN IN TAVERN GONE

Sam Zucker, keeper of a tavern and liquor store at 58 E. Easton avenue, reported to police yesterday that $2000 he hid in the basement the night before was gone.

Zucker says he left a salesman in charge Wednesday midnight, telling him the hiding place of the money. At the salesman's home police were told he had not returned home since going to work Wednesday night. A search for the salesman is being made.

Train Open to Public at Union Station.

The Coronation Scot, England's fastest steam train, which is making a 3000-mile tour of American cities before being placed on exhibition at the New York World's Fair, was opened for public inspection at the Union Station this morning. Several hundred persons were standing in line when the doors were opened at 8 o'clock. It arrived at 1:30 a. m.

The train, which has attained a speed of 125 miles an hour on its regular run between London and Glasgow on the London, Midland & Scottish Railway, resembles some American streamlined trains. Some of the principal differences are in the engine which is without a cow-catcher, and in the coach steps, built for the high British station platforms.

Because of restricted clearances of lower bridges and smaller tunnels in England, the Scot is somewhat smaller in outside dimensions than are most American trains. In building the elaborate passenger accommodations, the makers were forced to reduce the width of aisles and corridors to a minimum. Two-way traffic, difficult enough on American trains, is virtually an impossibility in some of the coaches of the English train.

The Scot is deep red in color, with a large amount of silver trim. It has eight coaches, with accommodations for 173 passengers. As it was a daytime run in England, a special sleeping car was added for the American tour. The bell and headlight on the engine are concessions to American railroad regulations.

Passengers on the train, which include officials of the English railway, executives of the Pennsylvania Railroad and World's Fair representatives, were guests at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon today. St. Louis is the farthest point west to be visited by the train which will swing back to the east tonight.

An English crew is operating the train, but an American engineer is riding in the cab in an advisory capacity.

KING GEORGE VI INSPECTS HUGE BRITISH ARMS FACTORY

Shown Through 30 Miles of Underground Works in Plant Covering 15,000 Acres.
LONDON, March 31 (AP).—King George VI inspected Great Britain's newest and largest arms factory—a $40,000,000 bombproof arsenal at Euxton, near Chorley in Lancashire, today.

The factory covers 15,000 acres and includes 900 separate buildings. Although not yet in full production, it employs 7000 men.

Factory officers, who took the King through 30 miles of underground passages, told him that arms production could be maintained below the ground during the heaviest air raid.

Passengers on the train, which include officials of the English railway, executives of the Pennsylvania Railroad and World's Fair representatives, were guests at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon today. St. Louis is the farthest point west to be visited by the train which will swing back to the east tonight.

An English crew is operating the train, but an American engineer is riding in the cab in an advisory capacity.

LEWIS SAYS MINE CONTRACT DEADLOCK IS UP TO OPERATORS CIO Leader Says They Hold Key to Situation; Old Agreement Expires at Midnight.
NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said today it was "up to the operators" to break an apparent deadlock in negotiations for a new contract in the bituminous coal industry. The old contract expires at midnight.

"The operators hold the key to the situation," Lewis said as a committee of eight negotiators resumed conferences. Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, said the conference had agreed on the maintenance of skeleton crews in the mines in the event of a shutdown. He said the crews would include pumpers, gasmen, watchmen and others, affecting about 20,000 men in the industry.

Several ships a month are sliding down the ways to reinforce the fleet, already rated the strongest in American history.

Altogether the navy lists as under construction warships and auxiliaries totaling 360,000 tons. Included are six 35,000-ton battleships. The Hornet, the navy's seventh air-

75 New U. S. Warships Are Being Built or Have Been Ordered Several Vessels a Month Sliding Down Ways—Commercial Construction Taxes Shipyards to Capacity.
WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—A $31,800,000 contract for constructing the aircraft carrier Hornet, awarded yesterday, increased to 75 vessels which the expanding navy is building or has ordered.

Most of the new vessels will replace ships past or approaching the limit of maximum usefulness. Virtually no replacements were made in the decade after the 1922 naval treaties were signed. The contract for the Hornet, a vessel more than 750 feet long, was awarded to the sole bidder, the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co. It must be completed in 34 months.

Cost of Ships Increasing. The Hornet, probably the most costly aircraft carrier ever undertaken, because of rising labor and material prices, is in general a sister ship of the new Yorktown and Enterprise but it will cost considerably more. To the contract price, which is subject to subsequent adjustment, must be added guns, ammunition and armor costing more than $5,000,000.

It is a high speed floating air-drome, able to attain 40 miles or more an hour, and will carry more than 100 warplanes. Its addition to the fleet will help the United States to maintain its margin over Japan in this type of vessel. Great Britain, however, has nine carriers in service or under construction. Aside from the Hornet, the navy lists these craft as under construction, although scarcely a rivet has been driven in a few:

Battleships—Six of 35,000 tons each.
Aircraft Carriers—The 14,500-ton Wasp, to be launched April 4 at Quincy, Mass.
Heavy Cruisers—The 10,000-ton Wichita, already commissioned but undergoing finishing touches at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.
Light Cruisers—Two, also of 10,000 tons.
Submarines—15, each of about 1400 tons, including two already commissioned.
Destroyers—37, mostly of 1500 tons each, including one already commissioned and another, The Lang, launched yesterday at Kearney, N. J.
Auxiliaries—12, seaplane and destroyer tenders, tug and oil tankers.
Of 37 ships for which Congress provided the first funds last year, work has been started or contracts let on all but four 6000-ton light cruisers. The navy undertakes to divide its construction between navy yards and commercial plants.
By July 1, the navy expects to have funds for 22 more vessels, including two 45,000-ton battleships. Its attempts to keep its construction moving at a fast pace have been complicated by the Maritime Commission's stimulus to commercial shipbuilding. Construction of more than 60 passenger and cargo vessels at the same time as the naval craft has taxed shipyards to capacity.
Rebuilt Town Celebrates. SOUTH PEKIN, Ill., March 31 (AP).—The citizens of this little community of 1300 assembled last night to celebrate the rebuilding of the town from the debris of the tornado which on March 30, last year, almost destroyed it. Then 275 homes were demolished. Now 254 have been rebuilt.

Speakers to Talk on Situation in South, at Dinner Tonight.

Negro Education in the South will be discussed at a dinner meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the University Club, 3605 Washington boulevard. The meeting is sponsored by Bishop William Scarlett, Charles Nagel, lawyer, and J. Lionberger Davis, chairman of the board of the Security National Bank.

Chancellor Oliver C. Carmichael of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., Edward R. Embree of the Julius Rosenwald Foundation, and President Thomas E. Jones of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., will speak.

TRAIN WRECKS BEER TRUCK

A large beer delivery truck was wrecked late yesterday when struck by a northbound Missouri Pacific passenger train at the Eiler street grade crossing, but the driver, Adolph J. Held, escaped with only a minor scalp laceration.

Held, who lives at 4603A Newport avenue, told police he drove onto the crossing after a southbound freight train had passed. He said the freight prevented him from seeing the passenger train.

NINTH GRANDCHILD OF THE PRESIDENT ARRIVES; IT'S A BOY

Nine-Pound Son Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 31 (AP).—A boy weighing 9 pounds 1 ounce, was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger at the Swedish Hospital here, and the announcement was immediately telephoned to President Roosevelt, his grandfather, at Warm Springs, Ga. The baby was born at 12:43 p. m. Mrs. Roosevelt, visiting here, was at the hospital at the time.

No decision has been reached as to a name or the child, associates of the family said.

Mrs. Boettiger, the former Anna Roosevelt Dall, has two other children—Anna Eleanor Dall, 12 years old, and Curtis Dall, 8.

Dr. Richard O'Shea, the attending physician, and his associates reported the mother and child were both "doing beautifully."

Boettiger, former Chicago and Washington newspaper man, is the publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The infant is the President's ninth grandchild and the fifth boy among them.

MINISTERS COMMEND STARK FOR CRIME FIGHT

Resolution Adopted at District Meeting of M. E. Church, South.

A resolution commending Gov. Stark's effort to eradicate crime and vice in Missouri and calling on members of the Legislature and other officials and citizens to give him support was adopted last night by 350 ministers and members of the 26 Methodist Episcopal churches, South, in St. Louis.

The resolution, drawn and offered by J. I. Chappell, a St. Louis optometrist, followed a talk by Bishop Charles C. Seelman of the Oklahoma-Arkansas district at a meeting of the St. Louis District of Missouri Methodists, held at Centenary Methodist Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets. Most of the laymen present were members of the churches' governing boards.

Bishop Seelman, guest of the St. Louis district, spoke on crime conditions in Missouri and praised efforts of State officials to better them. He did not mention Gov. Stark's name.

The resolution follows: "Be it resolved that we, pastors and laymen representing all the congregations of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in St. Louis and St. Louis County, wholeheartedly commend and endorse the courageous leadership of our Governor, Lloyd C. Stark, in the interest and behalf of law enforcement, clean politics, and honesty and decency in government.

"We hereby pledge him our co-operation in his fight to accomplish these worthy objectives and call upon our Representatives and Senators in the General Assembly, and upon officials and citizens everywhere to give him their support and co-operation."

THREE COMMERCIAL ZONING PLEAS UNDER ADVERTISEMENT

Owners of Residential Property Oppose Changes Before Aldermanic Committee.

Three bills to change from residential to commercial the zoning of property adjoining business establishments, so as to permit operation of parking lots, were taken under advertisement after public hearings yesterday by the Zoning Committee of the Board of Aldermen. In each instance owners of nearby residential property objected to the changes, while smaller groups favored them, pointing out that to bar the parking lots would cause worse congestion on the streets.

Two of the bills, sponsored by Sears, Roebuck & Co., which operates department stores at 1414 North Kingshighway and 3708 South Grand boulevard, would zone as commercial the blocks in which these stores are situated. Both stores have had parking lots for several years on vacant lots to the rear, facing on residential streets, and the intent of the bills is to legalize this use.

The third bill would extend the commercial zone at the northeast corner of Grand and Magalloway avenue east of Alhambra court, so as to permit a parking lot back of a newly opened market at the intersection.

COUNTY POLICE ASKED TO AID FIGHT ON KANSAS CITY BILL

Several Chiefs Requested by Director Higgins to Use Influence to Bar State Rule.

Police chiefs of several St. Louis County municipalities and Sheriff A. J. Otto Frank of Clayton received letters this week from Otto P. Higgins, Director of Police of Kansas City, urging them to use their influence with State Senators and Representatives to obtain defeat of the bill sponsored by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark to place the Kansas City Police Department under State control.

Higgins, who is president of the Association of Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police of Missouri, asserts in the letter that Gov. Stark's bill is a political move not supported by the facts existing in Kansas City's law enforcement.

Accompanying the letter is a statistical report of the crime situation in the city during the last 14 years—the first seven years under State rule of police and the last seven under home rule. St. Louis Chief of Police John H. Glasseo said today he had not received one of Higgins' letters.

PAY INCREASE PROPOSED FOR 46,000 HOSIERY WORKERS

Committee Recommends Minimum Wages of 32½ and 40 Cents an Hour.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—A committee appointed by Wage-Hour Administrator Andrews to recommend minimum wages for the hosiery industry proposed last night 40 cents an hour for full-fashioned hosiery and 32½ cents for seamless hosiery.

Andrews' office said if these standards were approved by the administrator about 46,000 of an estimated 140,000 workers in the industry would receive wage increases. Andrews can accept or reject the recommendations, but may not change them.

APPEALS EADS BRIDGE RULING

An appeal from a recent ruling by the St. Clair County Circuit Court, restraining the County Board of Review from fixing a tax assessment against Eads Bridge for 1938 on the ground the Illinois Tax Commission rather than the Board of Review, had jurisdiction, was filed in the Supreme Court at Springfield yesterday by County Clerk Oscar L. Becker.

The commission holds the bridge to be railroad property, assessment on which is fixed by the commission under a law passed in 1937. The county, contending it had a right to assess the bridge along with real estate owned by the St. Louis Bridge Co. and the Terminal Railroad Association, fixed the bridge valuation at $1,442,600.

TOKYO, March 31 (AP).

Japanese Government announced today it had assumed jurisdiction over the Spratly Islands, France claimed in 1933 and are of possible strategic value as a base for submarines and seaplanes and submarine bases.

The tiny group lies in the China Sea midway between the Philippines and 600 miles from the British naval base, Singapore. Their occupation would give a complete ring around the Philippines.

Meanwhile, scheduled on the United States and British ambassadors to the Foreign Office to receive an "important state" was postponed indefinitely. Government had invited the to appear today.

With the Chinese Island of Nan, previously occupied by Japanese, the Spratly group lies in Hongkong, places within easy reach of the East Indies and further block Southern approach to the near sea empire.

The islands lie athwart lanes approaching Japan from south.

Foreign Office Statement

The Foreign Office statement said the islands previously were ownerless but that Renzo Savada, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs summoned the French Ambassador, Charles Arsene H... and informed him the step taken for "the protection and utilization of lives, property and territories of Japanese nation there."

The statement said that in Japanese began penetrating and investing a "considerable amount of capital, erecting permanent establishments," and said that the Government on several occasions sent warships to assist settlers—"but the administrative jurisdiction caused not only inconvenience but was liable to cause unnecessary dispute with France."

"Accordingly the Japanese Government, in order to eliminate such disadvantages and inconveniences, have decided to place reefs under the jurisdiction of Governor-General of Taiwan."

Total Area of 247 Acres

The islands are seven in number with an area of 247 acres of great commercial value, but surrounded by lagoon which could harbor facilities for seaplanes and small naval vessels.

Their occupation by France in 1933 was the first claim to the islands since their discovery in Japan, in a protest to France Aug. 21, 1933, implied a claim of sovereignty, however, because French traders had tried to deposit guano and phosphate deposits on one of the islands, Ito Aba, in France annexed the islands by taking possession—after consultation with the United States. French official sources said on 30, 1933.

Paris Says Islands "Undoubtedly" Belong to France.

PARIS, March 31 (AP).—French Foreign Office spokesmen today said that the Spratly Islands were "undoubtedly" French, and added, however, that a careful examination of existing records be made to determine the bases of French claims.

French sources asserted the importance of the Japanese step was the symbolic external Japanese influence eastward toward the Philippines.

JAPAN TAKES JURISDICTION OVER FRENCH ISLANDS

Notifies Paris of Action Affecting Spratly Strategic Group Between Borneo and Indo-China.

POSSESSION TAKEN BY FRANCE IN 1933

They Surround Lagoons Which Would Provide Harbors—Only Four of Them Are Inhabited.

TOKYO, March 31 (AP).—The Japanese Government announced today it had assumed jurisdiction over the Spratly Islands, which France claimed in 1933 and which are of possible strategic value as a seaplane and submarine base.

The tiny group lies in the South China Sea midway between British North Borneo and French Indo-China, about 450 miles west of the Philippines and 600 miles from the British naval base, Singapore. Their occupation would give Japan a complete ring around the Philippines.

Meanwhile, scheduled calls of the United States and British Ambassadors to the Foreign Office to receive an "important statement" was postponed indefinitely. The Government had invited the envoys to appear today.

The statement said that in 1917 Japanese began penetrating there and investing a "considerable amount of capital, erecting various permanent establishments," and said that the Government, "on several occasions" sent warships there to assist settlers—"but the absence of administrative jurisdiction caused not only inconvenience but was liable to cause unnecessary dispute with France."

Mayor of Las Cruces, N. M., Withdraws Plea of Not Guilty.

SANTA FE, N. M., March 31 (AP).—A United States District Court jury today convicted Felix Martinez and Peter P. Coleman of falsifying payrolls on an Albuquerque WPA project. Judge Colin Nebett deferred sentence.

Mayor Sam Klein of Las Cruces, charged with illegal diversion of WPA labor to his personal use, withdrew a plea of not guilty and pleaded nolo contendere—no defense. Judge Nebett advised him to appear later for court action.

Today's verdict brought to 10 the number of convictions by the Government in its prosecution of 80 or more defendants originally charged with WPA code violations.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

Justice Frankfurter Writes an Important Document—The New Conception of the Constitution That Prevails in the Supreme Court—Holmes' Views Recalled.

Washington, March 31. (AP).—HUGH S. JOHNSON once described Prof. Felix Frankfurter as "the most influential single individual in the United States." He was thinking not only of the direct influence of Frankfurter in shaping the policies of the administration, but, even more, of the indirect influence exerted through the bright young men placed by his recommendation in "key positions" throughout the Government. There was a good deal in what the General said. It ought to be added that Frankfurter's placement of men from the Harvard Law School in Government posts—and in law offices over the country—was well-begun long before Roosevelt came into the presidency.

From an unofficial, behind-the-scenes position of great power, Felix Frankfurter, the Harvard law professor, has been translated into an official post, at the very front of the American stage, whence his influence will flow in divers directions for many years to come. His views as they unfold themselves on the Supreme bench of the United States are eminently worth examining.

The course which Justice Frankfurter will follow on the Supreme bench is plainly charted in the individual opinion in which, last Monday, he concurred in the momentous decision of the court removing income tax immunity from public officials. This course is in strict conformity with the philosophy of the law which the Justice taught at Harvard. He spoke from the bench completely in character.

The fact that Justice Frankfurter saw fit on this occasion to express his individual views is in itself revealing. He need not have done so, for he was in accord with the majority opinion of the court as read by Justice Stone. He added his own remarks, and in so doing set forth his conception of the Constitution and how it should be interpreted—because it seemed to him a "healthy practice" that Judges should go individually on record. One sees in this belief the full concurrence of the new Justice in the Brandeis theory that Judges should "expose" themselves to the public.

It is interesting, too, to note the frankness with which Justice Frankfurter dealt with the court's overturning of long-established judicial doctrine. There had been, he said, an "important shift," and this had come about "after a reconstruction in the membership of the court." The absence of legalistic mumbo-jumbo designed to rationalize the change in the court's attitude is refreshing. Justice Frankfurter stated in simple and candid terms what everybody knew, and he added in effect that the public had a right to know the standards by which he, as a member of the court, was guided when he approved the change.

The separate opinion of the Justice should be read in full, not only because it is the key to his own philosophy but because it expresses the doctrine of constitutional interpretation which now, by a substantial majority, prevails in the court. The court must be "duly mindful of the necessary demands of continuity in civilized society," but this does not mean that it must be bound by what judges in other days and other circumstances have said about the Constitution. The Constitution is "an historic document designed for a developing nation." The court should brush aside "unwarranted interpretations" of its meaning.

The sum of it all is in these two sentences: "Judicial exegesis is unavoidable with reference to an organic act like our Constitution, drawn in many particulars with purposed vagueness so as to leave room for the unfolding future. But the ultimate touchstone of constitutionality is the Constitution itself and not what we have said about it." (Bold face mine.)

This is another way of saying what the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said repeatedly and in many ways: that the law is a living, not a static, system; that the lawyer should develop "an enlightened skepticism" toward the rules which have been handed down; that "it is revolting to have no better reason for a rule of law than that so it was laid down in the time of Henry IV."

The difference is that Holmes was a minority voice on the court, whereas his disciple, Justice Frankfurter, speaks the views that have become, as one must believe from recent decisions, the dominant views on the court. The wings of judicial precedent have been severely clipped.

U. S. DEFICIT LIKELY TO BE $300,000,000 UNDER ESTIMATE

Drop in Expenses and Rise in Revenues Indicated for Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—Unofficial Treasury estimates indicate that the deficit this fiscal year may be about $300,000,000 less than the $4,072,000,000 which the administration anticipated.

Expenditures are expected to be about $100,000,000 under the budgeted $9,582,000,000, with revenues about $200,000,000 more than the expected $5,282,000,000 in the 12 months ending June 30.

Income tax collections totaled more than $500,000,000 in March when first installments were due on 1938 incomes. The Treasury needs $340,000,000 more income taxes before June 30 to fill budget estimates, and another installment is due June 15. The Treasury expects to exceed its goal by $150,000,000.

Miscellaneous taxes, such as those on gasoline, liquor and cigarettes, are running ahead of those estimates, and may add another $50,000,000 of revenue.

GARNER BACKER ENTERS ROOSEVELT FAMILY DISPUTE

Congressman Kennedy Writes Boettiger Texan Is Man "to Save Our Country."

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—Representative Martin J. Kennedy (Dem., N. York), wrote John Boettiger, President Roosevelt's son-in-law, today that Vice-President Garner is the man to save "not only our beloved party, but our beloved country in 1940."

Referring to Boettiger's correspondence with Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, this week, Kennedy said, "those of us who served with John N. Garner in the House of Representatives recognize his capacity for leadership and his intimate knowledge of Government."

Elliott Roosevelt said recently in a radio broadcast that Garner was "in the driver's seat right now" as a likely Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1940. Boettiger, soon afterward, wrote an open letter to Elliott in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, saying, "tell Mr. Garner for us that we're very fond of him, but he just don't fit." He added that "out here you can't stop people insisting that your party has got to stand for a third term."

White House Sources View British-French Action as Move to End World Fear of Hitler.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 31 (AP).—Sources close to the White House asserted today there was a general fear in the world that Germany might extend its "domination" of other races to other continents and that current British and French actions appeared to seek an end of that danger.

While President Roosevelt refused to discuss the foreign crisis at a roadside press conference, intimates declared Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's pledge in the House of Commons today that Great Britain would fight if Poland's independence were threatened and his statement that France would take similar action seemed to put squarely up to Germany the responsibility for any possible general war.

These sources said Britain and France were, in effect, saying to Germany that war would come only by invasion by Germany of some other country and war would be avoided if there were no such invasion.

World Put on Notice.

Therefore, it was said, the world has been put on notice where the responsibility lies if there is war.

The President was keeping in close touch with the State Department and Europe. He told reporters he probably would talk with them two or three times again during the day. He would not say with whom he discussed foreign affairs by trans-Atlantic telephone.

White House sources, summing up the world situation since Munich, said what was concerning the world today—the Near East, Far East, Africa and the Americas—was that "it is revolting to have no better reason for a rule of law than that so it was laid down in the time of Henry IV."

The difference is that Holmes was a minority voice on the court, whereas his disciple, Justice Frankfurter, speaks the views that have become, as one must believe from recent decisions, the dominant views on the court. The wings of judicial precedent have been severely clipped.

Unrest World-Wide.

The official sources, discussing the general picture, also cited additional reasons for unrest newspaper reports of fears of Switzerland, Holland, the Dutch colonies, the Baltic states and Yugoslavia, and the fear of the people in Asia Minor, particularly in Turkey and Persia.

In other words, there was a general fear, these sources said, of an effort to attain world dominance by Germany.

The President himself, replying to questions, said there had been no action taken by this Government with regard to the Franco Government in Spain. He also said his 10-day stay here was subject to change without notice.

President Goes Swimming.

The warmed waters of the infantile paralysis foundation swimming pool attracted him on his first drive down the dirt road from his vacation retreat after a late breakfast.

The chief executive, tanned from the sun and wind during yesterday's 75-mile motor trip through Eastern Alabama college and mill towns, reached here at 4:15 p. m. and went directly to his cottage.

MAYOR TRAINING CITY WORKERS AS PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Opponents Think This Is First Step in Campaign for Third Term.

Mayor Dickmann is training 150 city employees, mostly department heads and their assistants, as public speakers so they will be able to tell clubs and civic groups what the administration is doing.

He says the oratorical bureau is strictly non-political but his opponents see in its creation the first step in a campaign for a third term. They say he wants to counteract criticism of his administration and spread favorable propaganda in his own behalf.

The group was formed a month ago and meets each Thursday in the Mayor's office. He is usually there during part of each session. Already, he told a Post-Dispatch reporter, 44 city employees are well trained to make speeches, having collected a lot of data about their departments, and before long the full group of 150 will be ready to tell the public what's going on at City Hall.

Yesterday the group met with the Mayor in executive session. He said he spoke on the survey of the city government now being made by the Governmental Research Institute. He told the speakers' group it should co-operate in the survey because it had nothing to fear. There was also discussion of the poor showing made by the Democratic party in the March 10 primary. Particularly in the Twenty-fifth Ward, it was said, the showing was lamentable. It was agreed that something would have to be done about it and speeches might help.

HEARING TESTS IN SCHOOLS

Tests Show 7.3 Pct. of 205 Kindergarten Pupils Have Defects.

Hearing tests given to 205 kindergarten pupils from November to January disclosed that 7.3 per cent suffered from a hearing loss of 9 per cent or more in one or both ears, it was reported yesterday by Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling, by the Hygiene Division.

About 5.5 per cent of the 1592 tested in the first to eighth grades were found to have hearing defects. These percentages represent a reduction in defects, attributed largely to removal of tonsils and adenoids, the report states.

SUPPORTER OF CHAMBERLAIN IS WINNER IN BY-ELECTION

Colin Thornton-Kemley Returned to Parliament From Scotland by Slightly Reduced Majority.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, March 31 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain's Conservative party won a by-election in Kincardine and Western Aberdeenshire today. Its candidate, Colin Thornton-Kemley, was returned to the House of Commons by a slightly reduced majority, polling 11,111 votes to 9990 for Liberal A. J. Irvine.

Sir Malcolm Barclay-Harvey, Conservative, whose appointment as Governor of South Australia cancelled the by-election, received 12,477 votes in 1935 to Irvine's 9841. Six other by-elections are pending by the I. C. C.

WAR MATERIALS BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

Measure Authorizing $40,000,000, Not $100,000,000, Sent to House.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—The Senate approved and sent to the House today a bill authorizing the Army and Navy to acquire reserve stocks of strategic war materials.

The measure would authorize purchases totaling $10,000,000 a year for four years. Originally, it authorized $25,000,000 yearly expenditures, but the figure was cut by a 33-to-1 vote yesterday.

In addition to purchases of materials, $500,000 a year for four years would be authorized for the development of new domestic sources of strategic materials.

The bill appropriates no funds, merely authorizing expenditure of funds which may be made available in the future.

Senator Thomas (Dem., Utah), pointed out that no appropriation was made, but Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio), contended that unless authorizations for spending were cut, appropriations themselves could not be reduced.

The measure would permit the army and navy to acquire reserve stocks of manganese, used in steel making, and other strategic materials not available in quantity in this country.

RAIL HOLDING COMPANY CONTROL BILL INTRODUCED

Measure Would Give I. C. C. Power to Regulate or Abolish Such Setups.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—Power to regulate or abolish railroad holding companies would be given the Interstate Commerce Commission under a bill introduced today by Senators Wheeler (Dem., Montana), and Truman (Dem., Missouri).

The measure, one of a series drafted by the two Senators as an outgrowth of their investigation of railroad finance, also would set up new and rigid controls over railroad holding company financial matters.

It would give the carriers authority to enter into voluntary consolidations subject to approval by the I. C. C., and would end a requirement that any consolidation must conform to a program laid down by the I. C. C.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

Against Sympathetic Boycotts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It seems to me the height of asininity for some of our leading citizens to oppose war against the dictators and at the same time advocate other measures of retaliation such as sympathetic boycott, etc. Any such boycotts which materially damage the balance of our foreign trade can only bring in their wake the most active hatred of the other nations involved. From such hatred, and our reimbursement in like coin, can come only the seeds and the eventual necessity of war—a war made more bitter by the memories of our discrimination.
Furthermore, the world trade structure is so delicately balanced, that we cannot disturb or cease trade with one nation against which we have fancied grievances, without harming or even destroying the foreign trade of many nations to whom we bear no animus whatever.
Any controversy in which the principles involved are not worth fighting for is certainly not urgent enough to cause us to embark on a campaign of deliberate commercial injury to nations who can, and have, meant to us the maintenance of a free and profitable foreign trade system.

NESBITT HIRSCHMUGL.

For a More Demonstrative Patriotism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PERMIT me to congratulate you on the powerful cartoon, "Let Us Forget," and on your editorial, "For a National Rededication."
Both are in the spirit of recent pleas for a more demonstrative patriotism and should arouse thousands of your readers and hundreds of your contemporaries to organize such a pilgrimage as you suggest. I, for one, would consider it a privilege to join in such a demonstration regardless of place, cost or personal inconvenience.

LEO SOPHIR.

A Traffic Paradox.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE traffic sign, "Illegal to pass vehicles on right," does not fit in very well with "Keep in outside lane except when passing." I suggest a few posters reading "Only selfish drivers can be passed on the right."

Q. K.

Misdirected Taxation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE most recent addition to the Supreme Court, Felix Frankfurter, recently made news when he questioned the importance of John Marshall's statement, "The power to tax is the power to destroy."
Chief Justice Marshall was right in this statement. The power to tax is the power to destroy. But it is also the power to make for abundant employment and widespread distribution of wealth.

Whether a ho. in a garden cuts weeds or the vegetables depends on discrimination. The "rays of taxation" are grossly misdirected today.

N. D. ALFER.

Red Herring.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WITH the acquisition of Memel, center of a great herring industry, Hitler has copied a new source of ersatz-leads food for his teeming millions. However, the thousands of barrels of herring booty piled up on the Memel wharves are not nearly as valuable to Hitler as the little red herring of Bolshevism which he has fed the German masses for years.

This recent coup has weakened Muscovy, the way Stalin claims, it seems to me it's about time for the Bear that walks like a man to commence doing some walking, instead of sitting on its haunches, waiting to have the Hitlerian ring placed in its nose.

BEDLAMUS.

How to Forget One-Man Rule.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
YOUR editorial of last Sunday, "For a National Rededication," was fine. We need something inspiring. Let it be our flag and country and God. If we are for our country 100 per cent, we will forget one-man rule.

SMALL MAN.

Mr. Dickmann's Chance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MAYOR DICKMANN has a chance to redeem himself. If he will come out boldly for Gov. Stark in his fight to put wise, sane, needed laws on the statute books—if he will arouse the powerful business men of the city and get the various organizations to go to Jefferson City and demand that our Senators support the Governor's measures, and put over the Kansas City police bill, he may again resume his position as a respected, trusted leader of the Democratic party in Missouri as well as St. Louis.

Forgo your trip to the Tomb of Jefferson. Mr. Dickmann, make your pilgrimage to Jefferson City to do something good for the State of Missouri.

INDEPENDENT.

LIKE A RAT IN A TRAP.

In a move inspired by frantic fear, the Pendergast organization sent its emissaries to Washington to stop the inquiry into the $447,000 insurance slush fund, paid out in the notorious O'Malley compromise. The heat which is being produced by this inquiry must be scorching. The inference is that when the truth comes out the Pendergast machine, already reeling under a series of blows, will be ripe for a knockout.

What else could be inferred when James Pendergast, the boss' nephew, and Otto P. Higgins, director of police, try to reach the Attorney-General and even the President of the United States?

They must have known it was a forlorn hope, but desperation drove them on. They must have known that the new Attorney-General, Frank Murphy, is no Homer Cummings. In sharp contrast to his easy-going and politically-minded predecessor, Mr. Murphy is himself of the crusading type. The old days when Boss Tom could appeal successfully to "Dear Jim" are gone.

Neither Pendergast nor Higgins was even permitted inside Mr. Murphy's office. Instead, they drew a stern statement from the Attorney-General which leaves their case in a far more dangerous position than it was before the trip to Washington.

Mr. Murphy said:

No outside influence will be permitted to stand between any Federal prosecutor and the public interest. Provincial political powers who want the Department of Justice subordinated to their own interests are wrong; their interests must be subordinated to the public welfare.

Does that mean that the Pendergast organization wanted Mr. Murphy to instruct United States Attorney Milligan to drop the grand jury inquiry? Does it mean that the machine wanted the agents of the FBI and of the special intelligence unit of the Treasury Department to be recalled?

If so, the attempt to "fix it" can only produce redoubled efforts. Everything points to the fact that the administration is sympathetic to Gov. Stark in his efforts to clear up the situation in Missouri; but even if that were not true, the crude appeal to Washington officials puts them on their mettle to avoid any possible scandal.

On the Missouri front, Gov. Stark continues his revelations regarding the corruption of the Kansas City police force. The same Higgins who vainly went to Washington is attempting to tell the members of the Missouri Legislature that his police force is as white as the Governor's answer is conclusive. He points out, for instance, that the alliance of the police with the underworld is so close that Federal agents engaged in major investigations refuse to take Kansas City police into their confidence on the ground that the police will tip off the criminals.

Now is the time for the law-abiding citizens of Missouri to rally to the Governor's support in his great fight. Now is the time for citizens and organizations to inform their legislators that the Governor's bill removing the control of police from Pendergast must be passed. The opportunity is golden.

If the Democratic party of Missouri does not give the Governor the help he needs to rid the State of Pendergastism, it will dig its own grave. It is not the Governor, as some camp followers say, who is splitting and ruining the party in this State. It is the vicious machine whose influence has become State-wide.

Let the Legislature and the Democratic party beware! Let them rally behind the courageous leadership of the Governor or face the wrath of the people at the polls!

Many of the Pendergast henchmen are already in the penitentiary as a result of the vote frauds. The Pendergast-Carrolla Prosecuting Attorney—W. W. Graves—is under indictment on grave charges and, but for the inaction of a weak-kneed Attorney-General, would now be facing ouster charges. He would also, but for the inaction of the State bar committee, be facing disbarment proceedings.

More than 160 indictments have been returned by a State grand jury, under the able direction of Judge Southern, against Pendergast followers, including Big Shot Charles Carrolla, No. 1 gambling racketeer of Kansas City and successor to the notorious gangster, John Lanza, who was machine-gunned to death. The grand jury inquiry into the insurance scandal moves inexorably on and threatens to strike hard and hard.

On a score of fronts, the forces of law and order are converging on a criminal political organization. The Pendergast machine is at last caught like a rat in a trap of its own making.

AMERICA LAGS IN STEEL.

The United States' share of the world's steel production last year, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute, was only 27 per cent, the lowest in 55 years. By comparison, America produced 48 per cent of the world's steel in 1929 and 38 per cent in 1937. The feverish pace maintained by the munitions industries abroad, to be sure, was a factor. Yet this does not wholly explain the precipitate drop in our own production.

The analysts for the Anti-Monopoly Committee undoubtedly would have some advice to give the steel executives on how to increase production. In fact, the advice is implicit in the scathing report the committee issued early this month on the base-point price-fixing system in the steel industry. The committee said, in effect: "If you will restore competition, prices will fall and demand and production will increase." Unfortunately, history suggests that this is a means of increasing production which the steel industry will avail itself of only under compulsion.

THE CASE OF GROVER CLEVELAND BERGDOLL.

Now that the Government has asserted full title to $480,000 in property owned by Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, this most notorious of World War draft-dodgers is reported to be dallying with the idea of returning to the United States and thus ending a 19-year self-imposed exile in Germany. He hopes, of course, that he may retrieve some or all of his lost wealth. However, there can be no possible reason or excuse for the property to be returned. And if Bergdoll comes back, he should, and probably would, be forced to serve his five-year term.

The confiscation is a fitting climax in the case of this person who refused to serve in the military forces in 1917, to accept noncombatant duty, or even to go to prison as many conscientious objectors did. Using his wealth to flee, Bergdoll had the temerity to call himself "another Dreyfus" and to declare that the Attorney-General of the United States did not understand the law as it applied to his case. He had his mother make pleas to President Roosevelt and then even sent his wife and four children from Germany to appeal to the White House. He offered to return if his case would be reconsidered by a civil court instead of a military one such as convicted him. There is nothing left in his bag of tricks now. And after all, five years in an American prison probably wouldn't be as bad as the next five years in Nazi Germany.

A NAVAL BOOMERANG FOR JAPAN.

Several times since Japan discarded the naval treaty in 1936, the other signatories asked if she were going to increase the pace of the naval race by building warships larger than the standard 35,000-tonners. Day and night, riveting machines clattered, gantries groaned, furnaces smoked and converters flared in the naval yards of Nippon, but never a peep was heard in answer to the all-important question. Reports kept coming from various sources, and even were published in an official German naval gazette, that Japan was building three monsters of 43,000 tons. Japan still did nothing but encircle her yards with zones 30 miles in diameter within which all naval workmen must live and no unauthorized person can enter.

After two years of waiting, President Roosevelt has wisely approved the Navy Department's plans for two 45,000-tonners. Authorized under the Naval Appropriation Act of 1938, the dreadnaughts will be the biggest and most powerful in the world. They will exceed by 130 feet the six 750-foot ships under construction, but will have the same beam, so they may pass through the Panama Canal's present locks. Probably, these streamlined men-o-war will carry 12 16-inch guns or nine 18-inch guns, and have a speed of 27 to 30 knots. Each will cost close to $100,000,000.

It takes a wealthy nation to build such mighty engines of destruction. The taxpayer in this country feels the burden of rearmament, but he is not staggering under it as is the Japanese taxpayer. Unless Japan gets clear of the imbroglio in China, it is more than likely that she will have to come to terms or fall behind in the naval race that she started.

IT'S STILL PERFECT.

Glenn Loehrer, charged with vote fraud, was acquitted yesterday and Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller, the battling Tom Dewey of St. Louis, still has a perfect batting average. It is .000.

LIECHTENSTEIN—THE DELAWARE OF EUROPE.

The little country of Liechtenstein, wedged between Switzerland and Germany, has enjoyed three distinctions. It is the world's smallest independent country; it is the seat of more corporations per capita than any other country, and, until recently, it was the only German-speaking nation that Hitler had never claimed. Small game as it is—the country has almost exactly the same area as the City of St. Louis—Hitler is now reported ready to take it over, either directly or as a protectorate.

The article printed in the Mirror of Public Opinion today tells how Liechtenstein has made itself the haven of harassed corporations. With Liechtenstein under the shadow of Hitler's mailed fist, it appears these companies might have done better to submit to the regulatory laws of the nations which were their natural homes.

If Hitler finally takes over, we trust that Delaware, which has made itself the legal refuge of American corporations, will send regrets.

FATE CATCHES UP WITH THE GOLDFISH.

He was a brave man, thought Oliver Goldsmith, who first ate an oyster. And these youngsters who are bolting goldfish are entitled to some sort of mention. The Red Badge of Courage were, perhaps, too ornate a decoration, but as they file past the reviewing stand, in the colors of Harvard, Pennsylvania and Siwash, may they not be saluted, say, as the peccan parade?

Their fame, we fear, will be ephemeral. A little while and their names will be forgotten as the legions of the unwept, unhonored and unsung. And yet they have changed forever the languorous destiny of a beautiful drone.

Really, it has been pretty soft for the goldfish. Since it floated into the world's ken, it has toiled not at all. It has never had to fend for itself. It has enjoyed a special and, in our considered opinion, an unfair privilege. It has lived the life of Riley.

Its day of idleness has gone glimmering. Its pampered security is one with Nineveh and Tyre. Its velvety blue sky is ripped with the thunders of possible destruction, skinned with the lightning bolts of sudden death. Its serene bowl of immunity, graceful as the Grecian urn that heard the eloquence of Antioch—never mind. What may be judiciously said is that the goldfish is now in the same boat as any taxpayer: the worst is likely to happen any minute.

And that offish, arrogant, insouciant creature, the untouchable of the ages, may read a warning in the fate of the goldfish. Watch out, there, you horned toad. A college kid may eat you.

What's become of the law passed way back in the Folk administration, requiring lobbyists to register on their arrival at the capital? Is it buried in the Lake of the Ozarks?

NEW CHANCE FOR A MARRIAGE HEALTH LAW.

His marriage health bill will be reintroduced in the Missouri House, Representative Suggett L. Edwards (Dem.), Mexico, has announced. The decision is to be applauded. This State urgently needs such a law, to check the spread of venereal disease and avert the birth of infected children. The House Public Health Committee some weeks ago killed the Edwards bill, leaving only the unduly drastic and hence unworkable Senate measure. Gov. Stark, in his recommendations to the Assembly last week, endorsed marriage health legislation. Passage of the Edwards bill will mean an effective and workable law.

There is good reason to believe that the House (and the Senate as well) will pass this bill if it gets a chance. A companion measure, requiring three days' advance application for marriage licenses, went through the House machinery in speedy fashion. Had not the committee throttled the marriage health bill, it would also doubtless have been approved by House vote. This is a measure essential to the public welfare, and popular opinion is strongly behind it.

Here's Branch Rickey quoted as saying that "the Cardinals are not a good team." Thank goodness, we don't have to believe everything Branch Rickey says.

FIGHTING FOR ITS LIFE.

Liechtenstein, the World's Biggest Safe

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Europe's tiniest nation, now threatened by Hitler, has become host to hundreds of corporations seeking a home where laws are made to their specifications; although taxes are slight, revenues have become so large Government will no longer disclose their amount.

Vladimir Pozner, French Journalist, in Harper's Magazine.

LIECHTENSTEIN is the world's most remarkable safe-deposit box. Squeezed between Switzerland and what used to be Austria, bounded by the right bank of the Rhine, a few furlongs below Lake Constance, it is the smallest of all existing independent countries—only 61.4 square miles in extent. Considered as a country, Liechtenstein is much too small to be independent. But considered as a safe it is a very large one, practically the largest one ever built.

Vaduz, the capital of Liechtenstein, has only 2000 inhabitants. And even its new residential section with modern villas, which suggests an American summer resort, does not make it look like a capital. But though it is only a village surrounded by a few even smaller villages, by fields, rivers and mountains, and though one often sees cows returning down its main street from the pastures, a capital it is—of a country which has 10,000 inhabitants, five postoffices, one railway, one newspaper and one Prince.

As one strolls along the main street of Vaduz, one notices on almost every door a large enamel plaque giving the name of the owner, followed by the word "Lawyer." As often as not the lawyer happens to be an "Agent of holding trusts."

Trusts are not represented here merely by agents. The greatest German chemical corporation, I. G. Farben-A. G., for instance, is squeezed into one of these small flower-cottage houses. Royal Dutch shares the next house with Krupp of Essen. A few steps farther along is the place where the Swedish financier Ivar Kreuger used to have the head office of his world-wide match trust. Kreuger is dead, but Krupp's French rival, Schneider, owner of the Creusot mines and foundries, is still alive, and his fortune too rests in Vaduz.

So do the capital funds of the German magnate Fritz Thyssen, who contributed to Hitler's seizure of power; though Thyssen was glad to see his protégé in command of the Reich, he preferred to keep his own money abroad. As for the Standard Oil Co., it has magnificent lodgings in the City Hall.

Scores of other world-wide and nationally corporations, forgetful of their past and present rivalries, peacefully co-exist around the White House and enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of business. Liechtenstein was founded in 1719. For two centuries the principality underwent various changes. At one time it formed part of the Holy Roman Empire. Since 1866 Liechtenstein has been independent, though strongly allied with Austria. It kept out of the World War, lest the Central Powers should lose—which they did.

By 1919 the 200-year-old country was ready to go to town. It entrusted Switzerland with its diplomatic and consular representation abroad, contenting itself with keeping in Bern its sole diplomatic agent. In 1921 Liechtenstein adopted Swiss currency. Since 1924 it has been included in the Swiss Customs Union.

These unavoidable trifles having been attended to, Liechtenstein could at last devote itself to serious business. The story is that one day the chief of the Government met a wealthy American financier.

"Your small country," he said to the Liechtenstein official, "could easily become the repository of our money. You have but to enact legislation giving to capital the peaceful conditions it is vainly looking for today round the world. You enjoy an ideal political situation, and the principality could easily live on this 'trade.'"

The most important feature of a safe is its combination lock. Assisted by the best foreign advisers available, Liechtenstein's 15 parliamentary locksmiths (its Landtag has but 15 members) devoted themselves to the designing of most elaborate legal combination locks, indiscretion-proof and tax-proof.

It would take volumes to sum up the intricacies of Liechtenstein's tailor-made legislation. But it may at least be noted here that companies or corporations of any description enjoy the privileges of a holding trust provided they intend "chiefly to administer shares or stocks of other concerns," a very mild provision indeed. They have but to choose the principality as their seat and comply with local legislation, or the legislation of any other country of their own election. If they find no legislation to their satisfaction, it is permissible to follow the tenets of whatever common law floats about the earth suits their fancy.

The income tax amounts to 1 per cent, the tax on the capital to 0.75 per cent. Neither can reach over 500 Swiss francs a year—$115. As for the holding trusts, they pay 1.8 per cent of the foundation capital, 1 per cent of the assets, and exactly nothing on their revenues. If they prefer, they may enter into an agreement with the administration and pay a fixed yearly amount for as long as 30 years.

The prediction of the American financier came true: foreign capital kept on pouring into the principality. In 1924, 63 companies had their seats in Liechtenstein and paid taxes equivalent to $15,180. By 1929, the number of corporations domiciled there had increased to 522, paying the equivalent of $73,140 annually in taxes.

Five hundred and twenty-two companies paying on a yearly average $140 each; a company for every 19 inhabitants; even Delaware cannot boast such an achievement!

One must probably ascribe to modesty the fact that since 1929 Liechtenstein has given up making public any further particulars about its favorite and only trade. Some circumstantial evidence is offered by the telephone company statistics—conversations continuing an upward trend; and by the number of tourists—six Americans in 1924 and 40 in 1932, for example. There are also discreet hints in the Government's annual reports. In 1933, for instance, it states, "This year, again, the sources of our fiscal revenue have proved constant and reliable."

Prussia, when it signed the victorious treaty of peace with Austria in 1866, forgot to sign one with Liechtenstein and since then has been de jure in a state of war with it. Field Marshal Moltke was so well aware of the fact that when he used to go to Switzerland for a cure he always made a detour to avoid crossing "enemy" territory. On March 11, 1938, the Third Reich, annexing Austria, became the neighbor of Liechtenstein.

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS.

Storekeepers are pondering a scheme for guaranteed wages. That's all the country needs: guaranteed wages and guaranteed profits.

Major Issues Made Plain

Books in the News

At a time when events are moving with particular rapidity and major issues are especially confusing to the average citizen, "Next Steps Forward" (National Home Library Foundation, Washington) presents a simplified summary of the four major domestic problems of today: taxation, big business, Government debt and old-age security. This book carries on the foundation's policy of making important material available in readable fashion and at a moderate price.

Donald Slesinger has taken four recent studies of the Twentieth Century Fund on these subjects and rewritten them with a kindly eye toward the layman in politics, who is interested in finding practical solutions to his own problems and an intelligent comprehension of the great national problems. He has brought the major part of the social panorama today within grasp of the average citizen.

The findings in the field of taxation are of particular interest. Sharp reduction in the host of indirect taxes is recommended. "To make up for this loss of revenue, as well as to make as many citizens as possible tax-conscious, it is proposed that more workers be brought into the income tax-paying group." A reduction in tax exemptions to apply more directly to the middle-income group is seen as a more desirable policy than increasing the now onerous income taxes on the higher brackets, which have the effect, in some instances, of confiscation.

The section on social security prognosticates the recent statements of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau on this subject. The building up of a large reserve is seen as undesirable, because the reserve so created is used to buy up Government bonds, instead of being invested in private business, where it would produce income. Other recommendations are that the revenues provisions be withdrawn and that more people be brought under the provisions of the act.

In the chapter on "Government's Debt-Credit" is found an admirable statement on this most controversial subject: "The budget of the nation should not be balanced at the expense of the health and welfare of its citizens. The only values we want to preserve in the long run are human values. We can, and must at one and the same time, preserve our national credit, and remain good neighbors with each other." This statement, and others in this chapter, seem to put the whole subject of Government credit on the only plane of real significance to the layman—and that is the plane on which human security and opportunity are correlated with purposeful economy.

The average citizen will find that "Next Steps Forward" answers most of his urgent questions on the four subjects it covers in a language that contains neither ambiguity nor dissembling.

UNTIL Lieutenant-Commander E. C. Talbot-Booth of the Royal Navy got around to issuing his pocket-sized work, "The Naval Calendar" (D. Appleton-Century Co., New York and London), anyone who wanted to learn particulars about the navies of the world had to plunk down the equivalent of 42 shillings, plus duty, for the well-known and ponderous annual, "Jane's Fighting Ships." With only 272 small pages and 100 illustrations, the midsize naval guidebook lacks much of the detail and interpretive matter carried in the 600 sprawling pages of Jane's, but it is quite sufficient for the amateur Admiral and costs only $2.50.

ROCKEFELLER REPORT ON TRENDS IN SCIENCE

Problems Are Combatting Mass Hysteria and Trying New Kinds of Movies.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—New trends in science, from plans to combat mass hysteria to trying new kinds of movies on the public, are announced by the Rockefeller Foundation.

The foundation tells of the trends in its annual report, which states the Foundation gave more than $15,000,000 to science in 42 countries last year. Seventy-five percent of this went to the United States.

The Foundation was set up by the late John D. Rockefeller to return to the people some of the Rockefeller profits from oil. Recently it has been shifting its emphasis toward the social sciences.

"Everywhere," the report states, "reason is on the defensive and we live in danger that mass hysteria will completely overwhelm it at a time when it is most needed as a safeguard."

"If problems arising out of human relations are to be solved at all, it will be through the use of a scientific approach to facts, made in the same dispassionate spirit of inquiry, which has given man command over his physical environment."

About Social Sciences.

"Physical sciences," the report continues, "have centuries of expert mentation behind them; the social sciences are just emerging from a priori and deductive methods. Even today a good deal that masquerades under the name of social science is metaphysics."

For these social sciences the Foundation gave last year $3,762,500. For the allied humanities the Foundation gave nearly $1,000,000. In movies the Foundation proposes to learn whether the public would like different films.

"There is yet," it says, "no assurance that what are thought to be better films would find a public demand that would bring returns."

As a laboratory for testing this the foundation is supporting the American Film Center. This body sponsors pictures said to portray "aspects of life which the film has as yet barely touched"—such as present day activities in public health, agriculture, education and public administration.

"A want for such films," the report says, "is supposed to exist on the part of an audience that does not seem as yet large enough to justify production. The work of the Film Center will serve to test the validity of this supposition."

On Socialized Medicine.

On socialized medicine the foundation points out what it calls the "astonishing" situation that tax money is already being used to support for medical research as well as other sources in this country put together, excepting industry.

The report writes what appears to be the last great chapter in the history of yellow fever. This is the vaccination of 1,000,352 persons, mostly in Brazil, with the new yellow fever vaccine. Where masses of people were vaccinated, a sudden reduction followed in fever cases. Immunity after vaccination appears to last more than a year for most persons.

ANTI-SEMITIC FEELING FOUND IN COLLEGES

Harvard Committee Deplores Objections to Naming of Jews to Faculties.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 31 (AP).—A special Harvard committee on personnel charged today that anti-Semitic feeling in American universities "has made it difficult for Jews otherwise eligible to obtain initial appointments, and, therefore, to believe, has retarded their advancement to higher rank when appointed."

"No graver reflection could be cast on the academic profession than that any of its members should be willing to compromise the honored educational and scholarly standards by racial or religious discrimination," the committee, of which Justice Felix Frankfurter was a member while a Harvard law professor, said in its report to President James B. Conant.

"The anti-Semitism which has urged the German, and, more recently, the Italian universities of many of their ablest scholars and most inspiring teachers is the act of a totalitarian state. In the United States anti-Semitism is operated within the universities themselves, in the form of a prejudice which is difficult to prove and ever officially proclaimed."

In a footnote to the long report, which covered many other phases of the personnel question, the eight-member committee said Justice Frankfurter "participated actively and continuously" in the committee's work until he left Cambridge or the United States Supreme court post Jan. 27, and later "communicated his suggestions by letter."

"The committee is informed," the report said, "that certain members of the (Harvard) faculty object to the appointment of Jews to the tutorial staff in the belief that they are unacceptable to undergraduates."

"The extent of this undergraduate attitude can easily be exaggerated—in a number of departments Jewish tutors have met with conspicuous success. In any case, it is the committee's view that the university should regard as a part of its educational function the liberation of its students from racial or religious prejudice.

"To this end it is essential that appointments to the teaching staffs be made solely on grounds of professional qualifications for the position in question."

LINCOLN U. BOARD CHANGE CAUSES NEGRO PROTEST

Welfare Association Complains to Stark of Loss of Majority in Curators.

A protest against reduction of the Negro membership on the board of curators of Lincoln University, Negro school at Jefferson City, from a majority of four to a minority of three has been sent to Gov. Stark by the St. Louis Negro Welfare Association.

"On its face," the association stated in a letter to the Governor, "your action in this matter looks unfair to us. When you consider the fact that four Negroes and three whites constituted the board of curators of Lincoln University under two of your immediate predecessors as Governor of the State, as well as during the first two years of your administration, you will understand why your latest act with reference to this board creates a suspicion in the minds of the Negroes that this move is intended for their disadvantage."

14 BODIES RECOVERED AFTER BRIDGE WASHOUT

Two Sought in Creek Near Vicksburg, Miss.; Eight Autos Recovered.

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 31 (AP).—Fourteen bodies have been recovered from receding waters of Clear Creek Bayou, 12 miles east of here, where a spring flood raced Wednesday night to carry away a 100-foot bridge.

Divers said they thought nine automobiles plunged into the bayou one after another before survivors waded down other cars. Eight automobiles were recovered.

The bodies of Fred Matthews of Jackson, Miss., and O. H. Kitchens of Greenville, Miss., were recovered today.

Five bodies were recovered late yesterday when a sedan was pulled from the water. The occupants were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Schilling, Mrs. Sam H. Campbell, her 3-year-old daughter, Annette Campbell, and Mrs. Tom Bradley, all of Oak Grove, La.

The gasoline tank exploded as the car was pulled from the water. Burning gasoline was sprayed on the bayou and rescuers in boats had to dive into the water. No one was injured.

Bodies of two other persons, Miss Ann Turner, Memphis, Tenn., nurse, and Claude Cox of Jackson, were sought. Eight injured survivors were taken to a Jackson hospital.

GROUP IN HOUSE TAKES UP N L R B INQUIRY

Only Two of 14 on Rules Committee Said to Oppose Labor Board Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).
—House Rules Committee members discussed again today a congressional investigation of the National Labor Relations Board.

Representative Cox (Dem.), Georgia, wanted the committee to resume consideration of a resolution
by Representative Anderson (Dem.), Missouri, calling for the inquiry.

Representative Dies (Dem.), Texas, proposed calling the three Labor Board members before the committee "to show cause why they should not be investigated by Congress."

One well-informed Representative said only two of the Rules Committee's 14 members were opposed to the inquiry.

Dies told reporters he wanted to hear all the facts before making up his mind, while Cox said in a statement:

"Charges of maladministration are so widespread that it would seem that the public interest might demand establishment of the facts."

Another critic of the agency,
Representative Hoffman (Rep.),
Michigan, said in a radio speech last night that the board was using the A. F. of L. by favoring CIO unions.

In Pitiful Plight

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
ZENON RAZMIRSKY

Illinois Sentenced for Forgery.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 31
(AP).—C. F. Lambers, former head of a credit agency at Springfield, Ill., was sentenced to two years in prison yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery. He was granted probation by Judge Ferd Frankenbach on condition that he make good $100 worth of checks.

HOW RELIEF DELAY AFFECTED ONE FAMILY

Girl Missed School for Lack of Shoes—Money Due Grocer and Landlord.

Zenon Razmisky, who was told by doctors three years ago that he could never work again, sat in the kitchen of his home at 703A Utah street today and told a Post-Dispatch reporter of the bewildering situation in which his family has found itself since aid-dependent children grants were stopped nearly three months ago.

Razmisky's family of six is one of the 1900 in St. Louis that has gone without funds because the Legislature failed to make an appropriation. "After the last check came Jan. 10 we only had $10.85 a month to live on," he said. "We get that from the city, because the doctors won't let me work and we have a 4-month-old baby."

"We eat meat only once a day—beef and something we can get for 10 or 11 cents a pound. The rest of the time we bake corn bread or buy day-old bakery bread, six loaves for a quarter. But no matter what we ate, the $10 wouldn't even last 10 days."

"The grocer is a fine man and he let us have credit when he found out our money was gone. But now we owe him $27 and we owe the rent man $20, for two months."

"They've fixed it up at Jefferson City now for the payments to start again, haven't they? I hope the money comes soon, because how long can I ask the grocer and the landlord to do that?"

"One of my girls had to stay out of school because she didn't have any shoes. Finally I got a pair of second-hand ones for her from the city, and she went back. But that was all I could do; I kept going around to all the relief offices but they couldn't help me."

"This girl is 10 years old. My other daughter is 12 and the boy is 8. With the baby, that makes six of us. The older children—they're my stepchildren—are growing; they need a lot of food right now. I can't remember when we were able to buy them clothes the last time. They have to have clothes to go to school."

"Once I got $5 from the St. Vincent de Paul Society for food. That kept us going for almost five days.
But that was all."

"I didn't know what to do. I've always been an honest man and I never owed anybody any money. All my life I worked hard, ever since I was 10 years old; I had a car
once and we lived in a nice house.
I always paid my bills."

"I kept thinking, how can this go on with the grocer and the rent man? Those men need their money, too; they have their bills to pay. Maybe I won't be able to pay them back. I got disgusted with myself; I didn't know what to do."

"One afternoon two weeks ago I walked down to the Municipal Bridge. When I got halfway across
I stopped and laid my coat and hat on the sidewalk."

"I stood there with one foot up on the railing, looking down at the water. It was muddy and looked cold. I don't know what I was thinking, whether I changed my mind or not, because a policeman came up and led me away."

"Maybe he stopped me or maybe
I changed my mind; I don't know.
But I'm glad something happened, because I wouldn't have wanted to leave my wife and children alone—especially a baby. Only that's how disgusted I was."

Collapsed on Job.

Razmisky, 46 years old, was a steel worker and packing clerk before he collapsed on the job one day from his first serious heart attack. He and his wife, 36, have been married six years. Their aid-to-dependent-children allotment was $42 a month.

Aid-to-dependent-children grants will be resumed in a few days under an appropriation of $135,000 a month finally made by the Legislature Wednesday. They will be much smaller than formerly, however, as minimum needs have been estimated at $222,000 a month by the St. Louis Social Planning Council. Besides the 1900 St. Louis families which have been on the rolls, 6000 applications have not been investigated because of lack of funds.

BARRETT SAYS STARK 'STOLE'
ANTI-PENDERGAST PLANK

However, G. O. P. Nominee for Governor in 1938 Gives Executive Credit for Fight.

Former Attorney-General Jesse
W. Barrett, Republican nominee for Governor in 1938, told members of the 1940 Republican Women's Club yesterday that Gov. Lloyd C.
Stark, in his bitter fight against the Kansas City Democratic machine of Boss Tom Pendergast,
"stole" that plank from my platform."

"He was quite wrong in the 1936 campaign," Barrett said of his former Democratic opponent at the organization's luncheon meeting at the Catherbach Hotel, 620 Delmonde boulevard. "I said then about the Pendergast machine what he is saying now, but Gov. Stark said the charges were partisan and kept asserting that 'Pendergastism is a threadbare issue.'"

"As soon as he discovered his mistake, he stole that plank from my platform. He is welcome to use it and I am glad to see our Republican members of the Legislature supporting him. Let's give Gov. Stark full credit. He is fighting Pendergastism persistently if not consistently. It would be hard for any one to show greater zeal although others might do it with better grace."

NEW YORK RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, March 31.—Crude rubber futures opened 3 to 6 higher today after a day of steady trading.

The market was buoyed by reports that Hitler would make a speech tomorrow, with the possibility of touching off the much-feared explosion, was blamed partly for the turning of the market tide. In addition business news was none so comforting and hammering at the door.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Crude rubber futures closed 4-9 lower. Sales No. standard, 198 contracts.

15 OR 20 FACE ARREST IN POPLAR BLUFF RAIDS

Warrants Being Prepared on Stark's Orders to Break Up
"Little Kansas City."

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., March 31 (AP). — Prosecuting Attorney Charles T. Bloodworth Jr. was preparing warrants today for the arrest of "15 or 20" men as result of vice raids conducted under orders of Gov. Stark yesterday.

Early in the afternoon Walker Pearce, State liquor control supervisor, asked for the assistance of Sheriff M. L. Hogg of Butler County, whose deputies raided eight establishments at the same time. About 70 persons were herded to the Circuit Court and questioned one at a time. They were then released pending issuance of warrants charging some with liquor law violations and others with gambling or permitting gambling in their establishments.

Gov. Stark said today he ordered the raids after sending an investigator to Poplar Bluff, because "they were trying to set up a little Kansas City down there."

"We are investigating the case of each person brought in yesterday," said Bloodworth. "Those not charged with law violations will be used as witnesses."

Pearce issued a statement today saying the files in the liquor control office at Jefferson City "show an unusual number of complaints and reports of law violations from Poplar Bluff over a long period of time," and that some business establishments have operated liquor business "solely as an adjunct to the more lucrative business of gambling."

"Men who operate gambling dens and bawdy houses will not be allowed the privilege of engaging in the liquor business," he said, "and they ought not to be tolerated by the law enforcement officers of Poplar Bluff or any other city in the State."

Pearce also appealed, in his statement, for the juries to "support the law enforcement officers in their effort to stop crime."

Illinois Postmasters Confirmed, WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP). — The Senate confirmed the following Illinois postmasters yesterday:

Raymond J. Kelley, Huntley; Leona B. Dickerson, Lafayette; Herman C. Thiemann, Roselle; Lillian R. M. Yerke, Union; August Grewe, Wheeling.

PROSECUTION ON VOTE FRAUD CHARGE FAILS

Dismissal of Two Cases Follows Second Acquittal; Six Face Second Indictment.

Following acquittal yesterday of the second Democratic judge in the Eighteenth Precinct, Twenty-first Ward, Circuit Attorney Frank Miller, dismissed a similar charge against the two Republican judges of that precinct in the Nov. 8 election.

The four judges had been indicted together on a charge of making a false return. Severances were taken, and the other Democratic judge, Frank A. Reader, was acquitted last week on testimony that discrepancy between the return and a grand jury check of the ballots was only a mistake. A similar defense was presented to the jury which yesterday acquitted the State judge, Glennon Loehrer, in Circuit Judge Charles B. Williams' court.

Still Another Indictment. Another indictment, charging the four judges and two clerks with signing the tall sheets before the votes were counted, is set for the April term of court beginning Monday. Patrick H. Cullen, defense attorney, announced that severances would not be taken in that case, and that he would confer with Circuit Attorney Miller on a date for trial of the six defendants.

Miller told the Court in dropping prosecutions under the first indictment, "were as well presented as possible with the evidence. In view of these circumstances, which have resulted in two acquittals, the State will enter a nolle prosequi in the cases of the two remaining defendants charged with making a false return."

The cases against Reader and Loehrer, which the State elected to try first, were considered stronger than those against the Republican judges on that charge. The judges had reported the vote, in the polling place at 4114 Natural Bridge avenue, as 223 straight Democratic, 83 straight Republican, with 56 split tickets.

No change was made in the number of split tickets by the grand jury count, which, however, found 190 straight Democratic and 99 Republican votes. Counsel agreed it left at issue only the question of whether the discrepancy of 49 in the straight Democratic majority was by error or intent.

Loehrer's Testimony. Loehrer, who lives at 3611 Paris avenue, testified in his own defense that, if there was any "inaccuracy" in the count at the precinct, he did not know of it. The State's principal witness was Harry H. Sanders, 3811 Fair avenue, a Republican watcher, who told the jury he had remonstrated at the haste with which the straight votes were separated, and had telephoned a demand for a more careful count to the office of the Board of Election Commissioners.

Reader testified that he was called to the telephone and instructed to consult with the other judges on recounting the straight tickets. He said they agreed not to make a recount and went on with the tallying of split tickets. He had given similar testimony in his own acquittal.

Appeal for Rabbits and Chicks. ALBANY, N. Y., March 31 (AP). —The American Humane Association wants to take rabbits and chicks out of the Easter parade. Ernie H. Hansen, general manager, appealed yesterday to anti-cruelty societies throughout the nation to condemn the practice of putting live animals into the "cruel but innocent hands of children." BOZEMAN TAKES TWO CUE MATCHES IN DRIVE TO OVERTAKE CHAMASCO

CHICAGO, March 31 (AP).—Jay Bozeman of Chicago scored a double victory over Frank Scoville of Buffalo last night in his drive to overtake Leader Joe Chamasco of New York in the world three-cushion billiard tournament.

Bozeman won the afternoon match, 50 to 45 in 48 innings, and the night affair, 50 to 41 in 45 innings. The victories gave Bozeman a total of 45 against 23 defeats. Chamasco, who split even with Otto Reisel, at Philadelphia, has won 47 and lost 16.

Other scores yesterday:
At Philadelphia—Joe Chamasco defeated Otto Reisel 50-23 in 37 innings; Reisel defeated Chamasco 50-42 in 57 innings.

Three Big IFS Worry Terry

Condition of Hubbell, Schumacher and Whitehead Chief Problem for Giants' Manager in Building His 1939 Club.

Three major IFS figure prominently in the prospects for Bill Terry's Giants in the coming National League flag race. These IFS center around three important cogs in the machine—Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher and Burgess Whitehead.

Hubbell and Schumacher, Terry's ace pitchers, underwent operations on their pitching arms last fall and it will not be until the real battling starts that the success or failure of these operations will be decided. And it is not yet definitely known whether Whitehead has recovered his strength and is able to go through a full campaign, following his absence last year when he was out because of illness.

The two pitchers have shown to advantage in exhibitions, but that's not like toiling in a regular championship contest. Whitehead is working slowly, playing only in a few rounds of each of the Southern battles.

If these three players are in top condition, the Giants will be in the

Besides Hubbell and Schumacher, Terry has Melton, Castleman, Gumbert, Wittig, Lohrman, Coffman, Brown and a recruit named Manuel Salvo for his pitching strength.

Harry Danning will again do most of the catching, with Ken O'Dea, obtained from the Cubs, the No. 2 man.

Zeke Bonura, obtained from the Senators, is down to toll at first base, with McCarthy at reserve. However, it remains to be seen if Bonura's long distance hitting can offset his slowness in the field. If Whitehead is ready, he'll play second, otherwise it will be Alex Kampouris. Bill Jurges, from the Cubs, will be at short, with Myatt at third.

A pretty good infield if all the IFS work out satisfactorily.

For the outfield regulars, Terry has the two old reliables—Moore and Ott, with Frank Demaree, obtained last winter in a deal with the Cubs, for centerfield. Seede, Ripple and Chiozza, who has been moved from the infield to the meadows, will be the reserves.

Arrests of those promoting the show followed. Included was Joseph A. Murphy, then sports editor of the Globe-Democrat, who held the stakes and refereed the contest. Everybody was exonerated by the Court, but the affair cost Murphy his job as sports editor.

The three boxing saloons and their feud lasted well into the present century. Dan Daly was the first of the fighting Dalys to die, and Old Tom Allen suspended the family feud for the occasion and attended the funeral.

The old ex-champion went to the Daly home garbed in cut-away coat, striped pants, ascot tie, gloves and a silk hat. He walked to the coffin, stood over it, took off his gloves, saluted, and walked out.

And there, so far as history shows, ended the Allen-Daly feud. Allen died in 1904. Charley, the last of the Dalys, lived to the age of 75 and continued to be interested in boxing down to recent months, when illness prevented much activity.

His passing writes fits to a most exciting chapter in the pugilistic history of the Mound City.

Arrests of those promoting the show followed. Included was Joseph A. Murphy, then sports editor of the Globe-Democrat, who held the stakes and refereed the contest. Everybody was exonerated by the Court, but the affair cost Murphy his job as sports editor.

The three boxing saloons and their feud lasted well into the present century. Dan Daly was the first of the fighting Dalys to

Three Big IFS Worry Terry

Condition of Hubbell, Schumacher and Whitehead Chief Problem for Giants' Manager in Building His 1939 Club.

Three major IFS figure prominently in the prospects for Bill Terry's Giants in the coming National League flag race. These IFS center around three important cogs in the machine—Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher and Burgess Whitehead.

Hubbell and Schumacher, Terry's ace pitchers, underwent operations on their pitching arms last fall and it will not be until the real battling starts that the success or failure of these operations will be decided. And it is not yet definitely known whether Whitehead has recovered his strength and is able to go through a full campaign, following his absence last year when he was out because of illness.

The two pitchers have shown to advantage in exhibitions, but that's not like toiling in a regular championship contest. Whitehead is working slowly, playing only in a few rounds of each of the Southern battles.

If these three players are in top condition, the Giants will be in the race. If not, it will be a tough campaign for Bill Terry.

Besides Hubbell and Schumacher, Terry has Melton, Castleman, Gumbert, Wittig, Lohrman, Coffman, Brown and a recruit named Manuel Salvo for his pitching strength.

Harry Danning will again do most of the catching, with Ken O'Dea, obtained from the Cubs, the No. 2 man.

Zeke Bonura, obtained from the Senators, is down to toll at first base, with McCarthy at reserve. However, it remains to be seen if Bonura's long distance hitting can offset his slowness in the field. If Whitehead is ready, he'll play second, otherwise it will be Alex Kampouris. Bill Jurges, from the Cubs, will be at short, with Myatt at third.

A pretty good infield if all the IFS work out satisfactorily.

For the outfield regulars, Terry has the two old reliables—Moore and Ott, with Frank Demaree, obtained last winter in a deal with the Cubs, for centerfield. Seede, Ripple and Chiozza, who has been moved from the infield to the meadows, will be the reserves.

Two fighters would be matched, the house would put in $10 to start the purse. Visitors contributed what they would to reward the boys. Wine flowed copiously, for the play boys of that day were anything but Scotch.

For their investment on "actors' night" contributors usually were well repaid. Instead of an exhibition, they saw a real fight, in most cases.

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE L-172: Dora B., aged 19, has been married only six months. "My husband has been brooding the last few weeks," she began our interview. "He's afraid something will happen to him and he might die. But it isn't death which seems to disturb him primarily. He worries lest I marry again. He tries to make me promise that I will never marry a second time in the event that he should die before I do."

"Dr. Crane, I cannot imagine what causes him to let his mind dwell on this so continually, as we are both young and have a beautiful home and a long life ahead of us. I love him devotedly and he is crazy about me. I've tried to keep our conversation free of this subject. Sometimes when he starts talking about it, I refuse to enter into the conversation, for I think it is silly. But then he accuses me of actually wishing something would happen to him. What's the matter with him, Dr. Crane, and what can I do?"

DIAGNOSIS: Dora's husband is only 20. He is young, idealistic and so very possessive that he wishes to claim her undying allegiance forever. His exaggerated behavior is not uncommon in young men, especially if they are introverted or suffer from an inferiority complex. Jealousy is usually founded on an inferiority complex. The jealous person feels incapable of holding his sweetheart against what he considers the superior assets of others. His jealousy, therefore, is evidence of his self-depreciation and fear.

Jealousy is the green-eyed monster who spoils the otherwise unalloyed joy of millions of men and women. If you happen to be a victim of this dragon, then learn how to slay him forever. First, consciously focus your attention on those weaknesses which make you feel inferior to others. Maybe they aren't as bad as you have been dreading. Most of them can be remedied by study and hard work. If you aren't sociable and popular, then become so by following the various charts which I offer you through this column.

STRONG PEOPLE are not likely to feel jealous, for they are confident and assured. Build up confidence, therefore, by plugging up the weak spots in your social armor. Learn the magic art of complimenting those with whom you come into contact. It will help you become more unselfish. Jealousy indicates selfishness and extreme egotism.

It is foolish to browbeat a young wife into pledging her eternal loyalty. Win that loyalty and you do not need to hear her verbal promises.

Beauty and Diet By Patricia Lindsay

CHAPTER 20.

NEXT to good posture at all times, those exercises which strengthen your diaphragm are the most essential to master, if you want to recapture your figure into one of beauty.

Perhaps it is because women tend to lean on their stomachs in all moments of repose, or get lazy about their posture, but the common complaint of women whose figures are unattractive is: "I cannot flatten my stomach!"

The abdominal region contains nearly all of the vital organs of the body. Therefore it is imperative that the muscles which cover them and hold them in their correct positions, should be strong and elastic. These very muscles aid the organs to carry on their natural functions and thus permit you to be healthy. If you allow them to grow weak and sag into what is termed "a protruding stomach," you not only have a wretched figure, but you are inviting poor health.

A little will power will do wonders to flatten your midriff. As you walk and sit, consciously draw in your stomach by inhaling quickly and raising your bosom. Your shoulders should be relaxed, not hunched. If you do it correctly you will want to "grow tall" as you inhale and you will automatically adjust the position of your head and neck.

Here's an exercise which strengthens the stomach muscles, and it is one every woman should do daily at home.

Lie flat on the floor, arms at sides and stretch your feet down and your head up. In other words, "grow tall" while you are lying on the floor. On one count bring your self up to a sitting position with feet about two inches above the floor and arms stretched out at shoulder level.

All the work is done with the stomach muscles! Do not push yourself up with your arms. Learn to rise up in a rocking motion and balance on the end of your spine, feet off floor, back straight, chin lifted, shoulders high. It is difficult at first but keep trying for once you master it your stomach muscles are that much stronger and your stomach within three weeks will be much, much less obvious!

Before going on this reducing diet get approval from a physician. While reducing follow Miss Lindsay's Diet Health Rules, which may be had upon request. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ALONE AT BIG RECEPTION

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: I'D LIKE to ask you whether I was properly treated the other afternoon. I went to a tea alone because I am fairly new here and didn't know who else was going. The invitation indicated that this was to be a very big and formal tea, in honor of a certain celebrity. I was received by the hostess and introduced to the guest. I had said no more than, "How do you do?" when the arriving guest behind me pushed me onward as though I were out on the end of a diving board and forced to jump without knowing how to swim. Nobody talked to me; nobody introduced me to anyone else. I forced a smile, and asked a hostess at the tea table for a cup of tea with sugar and cream. She poured me a cup with lemon and no sugar, and continued talking with some one on her other side. There was nothing for me to do but go home. But do you approve of such manners? I wasn't supposed to go up and join people I didn't know, was a miserable feeling, I agree, than to go alone and as a stranger to any big formal tea or reception because the situation in which you find yourself is exactly that which you have described. There is nothing to do but what you did, unless you happen to find yourself cornered with an agreeable guest who is obviously marooned, too. The answer is, of course, that several relatives or intimate friends should be provided by every hostess, whose list includes strangers, to look after these otherwise forlorn guests.

Dear Mrs. Post: Must a lady stand to make introductions, or to acknowledge them, when she is not the hostess?
Answer: No. For that matter, even a hostess often introduces people who are seated near her without anyone getting up. Of course, a man would make a gesture of rising and bowing to a woman, and would shake hands with another man.

You've seen their Old Folks, too; shaking their heads... recalling "the chores we usta do at their age"... prophesying that "them young hoodlums ain't a-coming to no good end." And all too often those croakings come true.

Unemployed youth at the crossroads... where do they go from there? A worried nation wonders, yet finds no answer. But out near Mansfield, Ohio, the kids have found the answer for themselves! Nineteen-year-old, Alberta Lawes tells the world about it!

"We were just a bunch of country kids but we got sick of people knocking us, saying we hadn't any serious interests. So we formed a club to study the Co-operative Movement. That isn't as uninteresting as it sounds. Farming folks, everywhere, are realizing that they've got to co-operate if they want to get anywhere. So we wanted to know how co-operation worked and what our place was in it. And the kids sure went for it!"

"There were ten of us at first; now there are fifty. There's fun, of course, but we're plenty serious, too. We study everything—from the European situation to Successful Marriages. Sometimes we debate... but whatever the program, we always try to see what is our duty as young Americans."

"We create our own entertainment, which consists of good, clean, old-fashioned quadrilles and folk dances. Out of this fun-loving group we have found talented people to form an orchestra. We have also formed a dramatic club which is soon to present a play."

Skin Is "Third Lung" of Body, Says Physician

Nature's Protective Garment Thrives on Air, Water and Sunshine.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE skin is the body's third lung. It is also the body's protection against heat and cold; it is nature's garment.

And now that spring is here, it is time to give nature's garment of protection an airing. Let us, as the Tentmaker said, "Winter's garment of repentance fling" into the camphor chest with the mothballs. Take off your heavy underwear, if you ever had it on, put on thinner garments, turn off the steam heat, open your windows and give your skin a chance.

Fifteen feet square is the area covered by the skin of the normal average adult, according to Dr. Alfred E. Hopkins, in Health Culture. The amount of perspiration thrown off by an average adult in an atmospheric temperature of about 99 degrees is about 30 ounces as compared with 15 ounces thrown off by the two lungs. This would look as if the skin did twice as much work as the lungs, but that is not quite true because the lungs continue the excretion regardless of temperature, whereas at a moderate temperature the skin excretes much less.

About a third of the amount of carbonic acid waste gas which is thrown off by the lungs is thrown off by the skin. The skin throws off about four to five per cent of the amount of nitrogenous matter thrown off by the kidneys.

The skin also excretes some toxins and waste products of food, as you can tell if you stand near a garlic eater. All that garlic does not come from the breath alone. So you should give your skin a chance to breathe these spring days. A distinguished statesman of our generation, having more than a flair for medical science, assures me that he opens the window every morning on arising and parades around his room in the nude, even on winter days. Surely now that the weather is milder this would be a good tonic.

Air, sunshine and water are Nature's own invigorators of the third lung. The most potent and most widely known remedy for measure for the treatment and invigoration of the skin is the use of water in any manner of application. The Chinese and Japanese, who have notoriously lovely, silky skin, are also the world's foremost bathers. Water is used for tonic and eliminating effect in almost every disease—fever, neurathenia, kidney troubles, heart failure, weakness, fatigue, nutritional difficulties as well as local skin troubles. Cold water is the most stimulating, and if the general health permits, a cold bath, especially a cold shower, every morning for a week or two, is a fine spring tonic. This should be used with caution by middle-aged people, and in any case if a feeling of exhilaration does not follow, it should be dropped.

Too much sunshine and either to dry and fade the hair. Most people, especially the professional swimmer in medium weather is all right for exposed to direct midsummer sun of a corn shuck. Farmers ought farm boys wear some kind of hat atop there.

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:
AM a young man 22 years old, with a pretty good job and a very fine home and as many friends as the average person. I have fallen deeply in love with a girl who, when I asked her recently to marry me, at least to go steady with me, refused, saying she did not love me.

I have tried to forget her in the week that has passed, but I think of her everywhere I go and cannot enjoy myself. It has even gone as far as to influence my work. This I know is not puppy love or anything of such a childish nature, but I am in such a state of mind that I do not know which way to turn. I have decided to give up my job, leave my home and go to South America in the hope of finding a position and forgetting this girl. Do you think this is the correct solution of the problem? This is really love; and you can see what it has done to me. BEWILDERED.

Do not resign your job or buy a ticket for South America right away. Your tragedy is just a week old and, sometimes, these tragedies change quickly and unexpectedly with the appearance of a new girl blowing in on the trade winds or appearing from a different town.

Do not wear a melancholy look; girls are likely to gloat over the conquest and they do not feel that the tragedy will end in the tomb immediately. Instead of giving up your job, apply yourself as you have never done before, see what you can do in athletics, take another pretty girl out and realize that it would be too bad to find, before you even reach South America, that you had made the world's greatest mistake.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WE ARE 16 girls and we have formed a bowling club, bowling one night each week. We are just wondering if any of your bowling readers know of a private alley we could get for next year. We prefer a private alley but in view of the fact that we have 16 girls, we wish to get an alley with at least three or four alleys on it, as we have divided ourselves into four teams, four girls on each team, and three or four alleys would be ideal.

We do not wish to bowl in the big public alleys because we have more fun when it is more private and also private alleys are as a rule more in line with our pocketbook.

Dear Martha Carr:
FIRST LET ME say that I think your column is a Jim Dandy. I never miss a night reading it and cannot tell you how much it has helped me. Now I am asking your opinion on sunshine on the hair. I live with a splinter aunt and she is forever bawling me out about wearing something on my head as soon as the swimming starts. She says the sun dries all the oil out of my hair and I should not expose it to the sun in hot weather.

I love sports and all summer long I am out in the sunshine. And who wants to put on a hat to play tennis or swim? My hair isn't dry and looks a hundred per cent better than my aunt's. Mrs. Carr, she leads me a dog's life with her preaching. If I were a kid I would not mind, but I am 19. I think she is just jealous because she is getting older, in her forties, and has no friends because she tries to tell everybody what to do. She sits at home trying to think how to make my life miserable.

Too much sunshine and either fresh or salt water has a tendency to dry and fade the hair. Most persons wear a cap while swimming, especially the professional swimmers. A reasonable amount of sunning in medium weather is all right for the hair, but blond hair every day exposed to direct midsummer sunshine sometimes takes on the look of a corn shuck. Farmers ought to know, and generally even the farm boys wear some kind of head covering. A little sun helps—but stop there.

You are 19 years old—if your aunt has so many bad qualities and you flatter yourself that she lives only to annoy you, why not leave and live with others who are so much more perfect? Probably they will not care whether you sink or swim. It is likely you would miss her help in many ways.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
A GROUP OF Jewish boys and girls, from 16 to 18 years old, have started a social club. We would like to have anyone interested in joining such a club call MULBERRY 7327 after 7 p. m., any day but Saturday. We meet at each other's homes.

APRIL WEATHER, STARS and GARDE IS

The Month Of Frosts

By Walter J. Moxom
Of the U. S. Weather Bureau

APRIL, the second month of spring, is the critical month in St. Louis for frost damage to fruits, flowers and crops. The records show that the probability of killing frost is greater than one in two on April 1, exactly one in two on April 2 (which is the average date of last killing frost in spring); diminishes to one in four by the tenth, to one in six by the fifteenth, one in 11 by the twentieth and one in 33 by the last day of the month. The latest killing frost of record in St. Louis was on May 22, 1883, and the second latest May 2, 1875. In the last 66 years, killing frost occurred after April 20 only six times and after April 15 only nine times.

Frost in the middle of April is not necessarily harmful to crops if preceding weeks have been cold. In such instances, vegetation is backward. A very late frost may find vegetation so far advanced and hardy that it can withstand freezing temperature for a short time in the early morning.

The seasonal temperature change in April is somewhat more rapid than in any other part of spring. The normal temperature (56.1 degrees) is 12 degrees higher than that of March and 20 degrees warmer than the middle of winter. Temperatures on the first will range from a maximum of 59 to a minimum of 50 degrees; on the fifteenth the range is from 65 to 56 degrees, and on the last day the maximum temperature will average 71 and the minimum 62 degrees.

Some strong contrasts in temperature are shown when the monthly mean temperature is considered; for example, the warmest April in record (102 years record) was in 1844 (66.7 degrees) and the coldest in 1857 (44.4 degrees). The last cold April in St. Louis was in 1907, when the temperature averaged 47 degrees. The highest temperature ever recorded in this month was 92 degrees on the tenth, in 1930, and the lowest 20 degrees, on the third, in 1936. A temperature of 22 degrees has occurred as late as the seventeenth (1875) and 25 degrees as late as the twenty-fourth (1910).

APRIL is usually considered the month of showers. However, a careful examination of the records shows that May has practically the same frequency. The number of days with measurable precipitation for each of these two months is the same, 11. Normal precipitation for the month is 4.3 inches, or the third wettest of the year. The average exceeded only by May and June, with 4.34 and 3.82 inches, respectively. The greatest monthly total on record for April is 10.84 inches, in 1893, and the smallest amount was .46 inch in 1895. The average snowfall for April is .8 inch, or slightly less than November. April, 1888, had the greatest monthly snowfall of record for this month, 6.5 inches, while April 20 of 1904 had the greatest 24-hour amount, 5.5 inches.

April is almost as windy as March, the average hourly velocity for April being 12.1 miles as compared with 12.4 for March. The highest velocity ever recorded in April in St. Louis for a five-minute period was 49 miles per hour from the Southwest in 1917. Gusts have reached as high as 59 miles an hour (1922). The prevailing direction normally is from the south.

Degree-days are dwindling rapidly, the normal number for April being 298, as compared with 638 for March. The greatest number on record for this month was 554 in 1907 and the least 137 in 1896.

Hours of sunshine are increasing steadily, April showing an average of 7.7 hours daily, as compared with 6.6 for March. The average number of clear days is 11, partly in 30 years.

Thunderstorms occur, normally, on about five days in the month. Mississippi River floods at St. Louis are not common in April, and occurred in April, 1927.

The Post-Dispatch Star Map should be held overhead with letters marking the four directions.

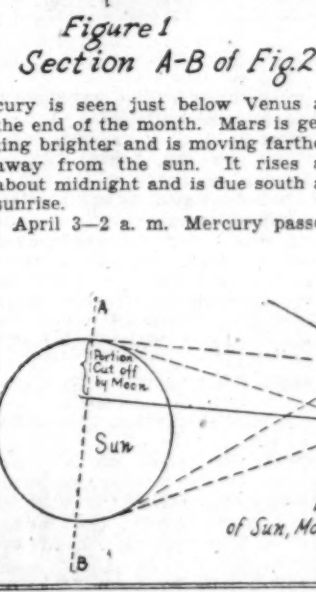

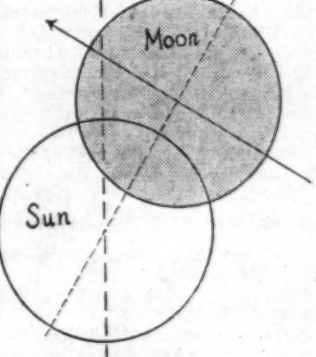

Partial Eclipse of Sun Occurs Here on Morning of April 19.

By Jessica Young Stephens of Washington University

THE outstanding astronomical event of the month is the eclipse of the sun which takes place on the nineteenth. This eclipse is called an "annular eclipse" of the sun, that is—the people living in Alaska see a dark moon covering about 83 per cent of the sun and around the outside of the moon a thin ring or "annulus" of light. This type of eclipse, which occurs when the moon is far from the earth, is of no great use to scientists but is a very interesting sight. In all parts of North America, except Alaska, people see a partial eclipse of the sun, that is, the moon cuts off part of the sun but does not cut directly through the center of the disk. A diagram of the sun and moon as they appear to St. Louisans at 10:14 a. m. is shown in Figure 1. Figure 2 shows the shadow of the moon and the cause of the partial eclipse. At 9:13 a. m. the moon starts to cover the sun at a point 23 degrees to the right of the upper edge of the sun. It covers more and more of the sun until at 10:14 a. m. it cuts off about 17 per cent of the surface. Then the moon moves off of the sun and finally leaves it at 11:19 a. m. at a point 26 degrees to the left of the upper edge. One looks at the eclipses through a piece of smoked glass or an exposed Kodak film.

The planets Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter are all in the morning sky this month. Venus and Jupiter are low in the East at sunrise. At the beginning of the month Venus is west of Jupiter, but it passes Jupiter on the twenty-first and thereafter is east of it. Both planets are very bright and make an interesting sight for anyone who has a clear view of the Eastern horizon. This is especially true at dawn on the seventeenth when they are close to the crescent moon. Mercury is seen just below Venus at the end of the month. Mars is getting brighter and is moving farther away from the sun. It rises at about midnight and is due south at sunrise.

April 3-2 a. m. Mercury passes ter moon.

It shows the stars as they appear to St. Louisans 9 to 11 p. m. on the first, 8 to 10 p. m. on the fifteenth, 7 to 9 p. m. at end of month.

Care of Rose Beds

By Supt. G. H. Pring
Of Shaw's Garden, President St. Louis Horticultural Society.

AMONG the many things to be done in the garden this month, the most urgent is attending to the rose bed. Bare spots among other plants may be filled in with roses, but roses cannot be expected to thrive if they are planted later than the middle of April. So get to work on your roses at once. The soil which has been hilled up around them for winter protection should be removed, and all the hybrid tea given a heavy pruning. Remove the twiggy side branches, and cut the main canes back to about three eyes. In such a mild winter as this past one, some extremely robust canes will have survived, and these may be left as long as six eyes in length; but the less vigorous bushes require the more severe pruning. This may seem like a paradox, but actually the pruning encourages both root and top growth, so the weaker bushes need the most of it, while the strong specimens may be permitted canes a foot or so in height.

Don't waste time trying to nurse a sick rose back to life. Even the healthiest stock has a trying time of it in our climate, so discard any bushes whose stems are not a good green, or which exhibit the peculiar growth known as rose gall. Buy only formal roses for your replacements, and get them from a reliable dealer who can guarantee good stock. Any rose requires constant care, and it is an obvious waste of time to give that care to an inferior bush.

Four climbers should not be pruned until after they finish blooming. The old fashioned, rambling type of climber may then be thinned out at the base, leaving from three to five canes for next year's display. Some of the newer large-flowered climbers bloom on old wood, and these should merely be shaped up after they bloom, for in their case, the more wood you leave, the more blossoms you will have next year.

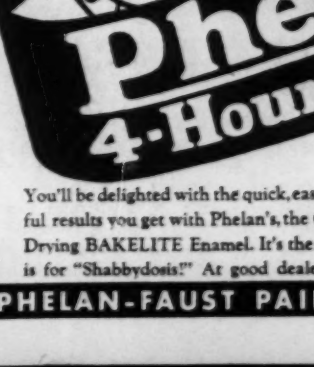

KEEP your eyes open for suckers on both old and new roses. Most rose plants are grafted, and occasionally the roots send up shoots and attempt to go into business for themselves. The leaves on these suckers are usually very distinct, being smaller and more numerous, having seven leaflets to each spray of the typical five, and looking much more like wild rambling branches than do the hybrid teas. Clip off these suckers below ground level, or they will eventually take all the nourishment from the plant and you will lose the top portion.

Any rose cuttings under mason jars should be uncovered. These baby plants can stand a great deal of cold but they die quickly if left under their glass covers on hot days. Their leaves may drop when the jars are taken off, but as long as the stem is green, the cutting is alive, and will put out new foliage in short order.

The two major rose ills are mildew and black spot, and it is essential that preventive spraying be done if you wish to combat them. Sprays for chewing and sucking insects come later, but Bordeaux sulphur, or tri-ogen should be applied as soon as the first leaves appear, and kept up as the roses grow to fight these fungoid and bacterial infections. Tri-ogen is an all purpose spray which may be used throughout the year, while if you use Bordeaux or sulphur for your preventive spray, you will need arsenic and nicotine later on. In any case your spraying program should begin with the first leaves, or you are wasting half your time.

Given healthy plants, and a fairly sunny location, which is well drained and out of competition from tree roots or large shrubs, your roses will pay larger dividends than any other type of plant you can select. They vary from large, handsome shrub forms which bloom just once a year, to hybrid teas and polyanthas which bloom all summer, and are definitely the favorite flower in every garden.

Loosen the Splitter
When a splitter gets under the nail and will not come out readily, a cold water bandage around the top of the finger will in time loosen the splitter and prevent festering.

South Correct In Passing Bid Of Three Clubs

Criticism of His Action Not Justified—Partner Used Poor Judgment.

By Ely Culbertson

DEAR Mr. Culbertson: The enclosed hand came up in a session of rubber bridge and caused a spirited argument between my partner and me. I should preface the discussion by saying that this partner is notorious for the lightness of his takeout doubles, a predilection with which I am in vigorous opposition.

"East, dealer.
"Rubber bridge.
"North-South vulnerable.
"East-West 40 part-score.

Q 10 6 3 2

"I sat South. East dealt and opened with one spade. I passed with hopes of cracking down later. West stretched it to two spades, which was needed for game. North doubled. East decided to await developments and passed. I, figuring my partner for a long nearly solid club suit, to which he could run, and probably an outside king, bid two no trump. West doubled. North passed. East passed and I redoubled. West passed North bid three clubs and all passed.

"My reasoning was this: Partner evidently had pulled one of his weird take-out doubles and had no entry in his hand outside of the club suit. Therefore I saw myself playing all the cards from my own hand at no trump, and if I bid three no trump, getting doubled again, taking a wicked set.

"Partner took it on the chin plenty at three clubs and raved that I couldn't possibly leave him in the contract. My lady fair who sat beside me and who is really one of my favorite partners, said succinctly what she would have done: 'I had I left her in with three clubs with my hand. (My opponents, however, were very gracious about the whole thing.) What really got under my skin was that North was unwilling to give me credit for such brains and to trust my redouble of two no trump. I shall be happy to have your critical analysis.

"W. P. H. Boston.

What appened on this hand is what happens every time a player fluctuates between North and South. North's take-out double was, of course, horrible. Undoubtedly he realized this fact and, when South's two no trump response was doubled and redoubled, just couldn't stand the contract. I cannot say that I blame him for feeling that such a contract might meet a fate worse than death, but the point is that he should have thought of that in the first place.

I must say, however, that I don't know exactly what caused the controversy between North and South, since the penalty could not have been very bad. Three clubs was not doubled and at 100 points a trick there should have been no holocaust. It is interesting to note that the one good contract available to North-South was virtually impossible to reach by any bidding method. I refer, of course, to hearts. Looking at the combined hands any one would prefer a three heart contract to any other, but reaching it would be quite another matter. Surely North could not have bid to bid it for two spades, nor even over South's two no trump bid. If three clubs had been doubled that would have been something else. Then North might have tried hearts as a possible refuge.

As to South's action in passing to three clubs, I do not see any possible ground for criticism. What should he have done? Rescue an undoubted contract with his anemic diamond suit? Or should he have bid three no trump after North had run out of a two no trump, double contract? My answer is: emphatic no. The real answer is that North-South should not even have entered the bidding; that they should have permitted East's two spade contract to stand—and defeated it!

ON BROADWAY

A St. Patrick's day party Dan Higgins told Jim Heenehan's guests this one about a friend named Murphy. . . . Murphy, it seems, came to this country and got a job driving a garbage wagon. . . . From hard work Murphy elevated himself to contractor and the owner of three garbage scows. . . . One day because he was threatened with a suit by Jersey people (for tossing the garbage into the bay) Murphy went down to the scene on one of his scows to help prepare his defense. . . . He slipped and fell into the bay and drowned. . . . One of his pals, who came here from Ireland with him, went to the wake and expressed his sympathy to the widow. . . . "I suppose," the pal supposed, "the left you well fixed. I certainly hope he did."

"Yes," Mrs. Murphy replied, "to be exact, he left $160,000."

"$160,000?" boomed the pal. "And he couldn't neither read nor write?"

"Nor swim!" added Mrs. Murphy.

"No, I can't recall its title right now," said Sam.

"Well," was the retort true, "it was 'The Fatal Wedding!'"

The N. Y. Times has turned humanitarian by asking for more 55-cent seats in the legit theaters. . . . Watch out for the tear-jerker histories of The 100 Neediest Gallery Gods. . . . Doctors of Boston City Hospital find that the wrenchings and flutterings of the jitterbugs are harmful not only to themselves, but also to future generations. . . . Past generations, too, judging by the ancestors we've seen get sick right to their middles just watching.

They're saying that they put Joan Crawford on skates in 'The Ice Follies of 1936' because the story they gave her froze stiff in so many spots. . . . The maker of a certain ciggie, trying to find a phrase to label it, finally decided it was as fresh as the newest movie story. . . . That's a sour smile. . . . A movie star is freshest after the second option has been lifted. . . . We had a peep at Salvador Dali's window display of surrealist What-Are-They the other day. . . . Next a. m. we read he had wrecked the whole show window. . . . Now we're puzzled—did we look before or after the destruction?

Recent banning of those five Berlin stage comics from appearing in any Nazi theaters. . . . Werner Fink, the star, was the cause of the cleanup. . . . Fink's specialty at Berlin's popular Kabaret der Komiker was the pantomime that broke Goebbels' patience. . . . Werner appeared on an empty stage with a large packing case under his arm. . . . The only decorations were three pictures hanging on the wall. . . . They were likenesses of Hitler, Goering and Goebbels. . . . Silently, the comedian opened his box—and then reached up and took down Goebbels' picture. . . . He carefully wrapped it in excelsior and placed it in his box. . . . He repeated the routine with the Goering picture. . . . Then he wrapped it in the case, wrapped it in the case, and then he carried the world on his back. . . . And then—just before reaching the wings, he turned around, and the audience howled with robust laughter at the sign in huge letters on the box: "Fragile—do not crush!"

Judging from the okay W. O. Douglas got on his appointment to the United States Supreme Court, the other Justices must be kind of worried over whether he'll accept them! . . . Odette Keun, a gal reported from Paris, charges in her book about America (why should we give it a free ad?) that New York City "is the most ugly, violent and meaningless capital city" she has ever seen. . . . "Most ugly, etc.," she maybe means, she ever sold a chapter on. . . . It's pleasant to record the death of the hateful word—glamour. . . . When Deanna Durbin's bosses advertised her as "glamorous" two New York film critics waned the cads to guard their tongues in future when discussing a lady.

A well-known spender recently died and left a number of lady friends in tears. . . . Some of them were reminiscing about his kindnesses last night and recalled this incident. . . . A show girl had received a Rolls Royce from him, and another was thinking of putting the bee on him for a Rolls, too. . . . "Honey," counseled the first girl, "don't get a Rolls. I find they are very difficult to get rid of—get a bracelet!"

WINTER CROP.

I f the woodchuck who lived on the grassy slope up back of the Widow Sharp's cabin came out on the second of February and didn't see his fuzzy shadow, Pod Hart knew that spring would soon be on her way...

Before long Jack-in-pulpit and Dutchman's breeches would be rising from among last year's molding leaves, and Pod knew it was time for him to "get set."

"Carline," yelled Pod, one morning when the sun had laid a saffron runner across a corner of the stoop, "Fetch the big scissor-shears!"

Pod sat in the chair which he himself had hewn; Caroline fastened a red and white checkered tablecloth around him to keep the hairs from falling inside his shirt collar...

"All y' gals light out!" Commanded Pod; "Yore maw's nervous and I ain't hankerin' to git a year lopped off—"

All but "Rela, She kin set and watch."

With folded hands, Her back against a post, Aurelia sat, eyes wistful, Lips half-amused;

"Pappy's gittin' his ha'r cut!" "Pappy's gittin' his ha'r cut!" Irene screamed.

And then Corinne, But big Sis, Stacie Belle, Being older and more dignified, Only stuck out her tongue.

His patience was rewarded on January 2, 1939, when he brought down a 140-pound buck, with two shots, as it leaped ahead of the dogs. The sound of the deer running was his only guide in aiming. TITAN TOWER

(Serial Story) By JAMES G. CHESNUTT

Mr. Avon Invites Linda to His Home to Meet His Family—He Tells Her He Has a Surprise for Her.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.

WHEN Linda returned to San Francisco with Mickey after the glorious week of rest, fresh air and sunshine in the mountains, the worst worry on her mind was what to tell Mr. Avon.

For Linda, a poor driver at best, had backed his expensive car into a redwood tree, inflicting costly damage to the rear trunk and one fender. As she made up her mind to insist that she pay the repair bill, she had worried aloud on the drive back from Boulder Creek.

"Don't worry, mommy," Mickey had soothed. "Steve can fix it. Steve can fix anything."

"Yes, dear," Linda had agreed, "when Steve's hands are all well again."

The indications that Steve's hands—particularly the all-important right hand—would be all right again, were favorable. But, of course, they wouldn't know for sure for several weeks, until the casts and bandages could be removed.

As Linda pulled to a stop at the curb in front of her home, she noticed that a man was standing on the front steps, apparently waiting for someone. Because she did not know that the stranger was waiting for her, she didn't give his presence a second thought.

He was a stranger to Linda, but would not have been a stranger to Janice and Jo, who would have recognized him as the "ghost" of Titan Tower's lobby.

As Linda and Mickey started toward the steps, the stranger approached them and asked: "Mrs. Linda Morton?"

"Yes," Linda's answer was itself a question.

By way of answer, the man-in-black shoved into Linda's hand a folded paper, very formal and legal appearing. Her eyes, resting on the title on the outside of the document, read:

"In and for the Superior Court of the City and County of etc., etc. In the matter of the Guardianship of Bradley Michael Morton II, a minor."

Bradley M. Morton and Mrs. Imogene Hart Morton, petitioners; "Mrs. Linda Walsh Morton, also known as Mrs. Michael Morton, respondent..."

When Linda's eyes dazedly left the paper in her hand and went back to the man-in-black, she saw that he was copying, in a black book, the license number of Mr. Avon's car.

Later, when she was inside the house, Linda flung herself on the studio couch and clasped Mickey to her, as though real hands, not a formal legal document, were trying to snatch him away.

Mickey, little understanding, struggled to free himself from the tight grip.

"What's the matter mommy?" he asked. "Why you grab me?"

"Mickey, darling," Linda said, "Someone... someone you don't know on a mountain cabin, passed the marble bench and saw a shade."

"Mickey doesn't want to go 'way'!" "Sweet, you won't have to; they'll the "Specter of Titan Tower" who had served Linda with the guardian-ship papers. It was a real specter... the shade of a benevolent, kindly little old lady—a person who had "seen" with sightless eyes more life and drama in this vertical city than any of its everyday tenants...

So Aunt Cynthia was dead. She wouldn't ever seem dead—really—to Linda. Not Aunt Cynthia, who had seen life and laughter and happiness, tears and tragedy, in Titan Tower; and seen, despite her blindness, a scene which people with two good eyes had missed because it was too obvious.

Linda, with a deep ache in her heart, performed her duties in Dr. Thorpe's office as though there were nothing to worry about. Her employer commended her for the good that the week's rest had done.

"Well," Dr. Thorpe said, "Now you seem your old self again, Linda. That rest was just what the doctor ordered. Just one thing more—a big smile would help..."

Linda's face shortened in a made-to-order smile she didn't feel.

She underwent an anxious few minutes at the lunch counter that noon, worrying for fear Mr. Avon wouldn't show up—until he appeared, smiling and friendly as usual.

"WELL, young lady," he beamed. "You look like a living advertisement for this week at Avon's Acres. How did it go?"

"Get ready for a shock," Linda said. "I wrecked your car!"

"What?" Mr. Avon's eyebrows went up. "Nothing trivial, I hope. I never did like that car; too big and pretentious."

That's the way Linda had known Mr. Avon would take it—no tut-tutting or lectures.

"Well, just some dents in the trunk and fenders," she said. "I want you to let me pay for the repairs."

"Don't give it another thought, my dear," he said. "It's completely insured. Won't cost us a cent. Let's forget about the car—how about you? No bad dents, I hope..."

And then Linda told him—everything.

About the Bradley Mortons and their move to gain custody of Mickey, using Linda's romance with Bill Blaine and her innocent association with Mr. Avon, himself, as proof that Linda was an "unfit" parent.

When she got to the part of Steve Hubbard's offer of aid, from Aunt Cynthia's funds, and his suggestion that Linda get married, Pop Blaine said:

"Tell me that again, please—just what Steve said."

"He said, 'What about getting married, Linda?'"

"Are you sure, child," Mr. Avon observed, very calmly, "that your Steve wasn't speaking for himself?"

"You mean..." Linda's mouth popped open. "Steve meant... He doesn't care for me!"

"I think," Mr. Avon said, "that he does—very much."

"Are you sure, Linda, that you love this Dr. Blaine?" Linda hesitated, looked pensively at her coffee cup.

"I was sure," she answered at last, "so sure. Now... well, I don't know that he loves me. Really, I mean. He seemed so different from the Bill I knew, when he learned about Mickey and when Dr. Renquist accused him of bungling the operation on Steve."

"What's that?" Mr. Avon's tone was sharp.

"Bill and Rennie had a terrible scene after the operation on Steve," Linda explained. "That was why Dr. Renquist quit Dr. Vance's office and went into practice in his own office."

"Oh," said Mr. Avon, as though he understood. His face said that he meant to understand more.

"Linda," he said, after a pause. "It's hard to think this out straight right here. I'm afraid we'll get all messed up and confused. Let's talk it over at my home tonight. Oh, don't look startled; we'll be perfectly chaperoned in case the Mortons are shadowing you. I want you to meet my wife and my children."

"Besides," he continued thoughtfully, "I have a surprise for you—one that is long overdue, my dear."

When he insisted, Linda, her curiosity piqued by the prospect of the "surprise" promised to come. The "surprise" was to be greater than she anticipated.

SPANISH CELERY.

Celery is such a nerve tonic that it seems a pity not to use it more in cooked form. Cut the celery into one-inch pieces until you have two cups. Simmer until tender in salted water and then drain. Melt two tablespoons butter and add two tablespoons minced ham, one-half cup milk, salt and pepper. Let come to a boil and then pour over the yolk of an egg which has been stirred into two tablespoons grated cheese. Cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Stir in the celery and serve over hot buttered toast. A nice economical luncheon dish.

and Dreft always makes masses of soft, of just the right cool-water texture to protect the silky lustre of stockings!

Doctor & Gamble make Dreft. If you write them, saying you have this advertisement, they will send a surprise gift. Mail a postcard to Dept. 17, Box 687, Cincinnati, O. Offer good until April 7th.
